

APPENDIX F: BIBLIOGRAPHY ON PUBLIC ACCESS TO LEGAL INFORMATION

Baish, Mary Alice and Kirk, Darcy, "Barriers to Broad Public Access of Court Opinions and Creative Consortial Projects of Law Librarians to Democratize Access through the Internet." 23 Collection Management 105-88 (1998)

Bonge, Barbara, "Public Access to Legal Information." 78 Michigan Bar Journal 1130 (1999)

Browne, Kelly, "Does the Law Governing Public Access to Judicial Opinions Mandate Citation Reform?: It Depends." 17 Legal Reference Services Quarterly 75-144 (1999)

Coyle, Marcia, "Electronic Filing Issues: Public Access vs. Privacy." 23 National Law Journal 54-55 (Sept. 3, 2001)

Gauthier, Ashley, "Proposed Policy on Court Records Threatens Public Access Rights." 26 News Media & the Law 8 (2002)

Hane, Paula J. "Wider Access to U.S. Court Records Database Stirs Up Controversy." 18 Information Today 13 (2001)

Leibowitz, Wendy, "Web Access to Courts." 21 National Law Journal A20 (Oct. 5 1998)

Leibowitz, Wendy, "Who Owns the Law? And Why Won't they Publish it on the Internet? Let's Have Free and Public Access." 27 Law Practice Management 10 (2001)

Luo, Wei, et al, "Government Documents Around the World: Access Policies and Strategies of Disclosure." 7 AALL Spectrum 14 (2002)

McCanless, Alice M., "Public Access to Legal Resources on the Internet." 49 Southeastern Librarian 11-14 (2001)

MacDonald, D. "The Electronic Freedom of Information Act Amendments: A Minor Upgrade to Public Access Law." 23 Rutgers Computer & Technology Law Journal 357-89 (1997)

Southern California Association of Law Libraries. Committee on Public Access to Legal Information. Locating the Law: a Handbook for Non-law Librarians. 4th ed. Los Angeles, Cal.: The Committee, 2001.

Westwood, Karen, “ ‘Meaningful Access to the Courts and Law Libraries’: Where are we Now?” 90 Law Library Journal 193-207 (1998)