

SOUTHEASTERN Law Librarian

Official newsletter of the Southeastern Chapter of A.A.L.L.

VOLUME 20, NUMBER 1

FALL, 1994

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Please join me in welcoming Mary McCormick as the new editor of the Southeastern Law Librarian! Mary generously agreed to assume the editorship as Jim Gates' successor. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Jim for his fine work as editor during the past two years, and to thank Mary for taking on this awesome task. I am sure that Mary will continue the long tradition of enhancing the quality and content of our Chapter newsletter with each succeeding editor. Of course, she will need input from each SEALL member to insure that the newsletter remains timely and informative.

I would also like to thank the SEALL members who have volunteered to serve on, or chair, a SEALL committee. Your response has been great and several of the committees are already hard at work. However, I have received a request for more members on the Membership Committee. Paula Tejada, Chair, would like to have a member from each state to alert her when potential new members are hired. So far, the Membership Committee has representatives from the states of Florida, Kentucky and Georgia. Please help this committee by volunteering to serve, or by notifying Paula when a new librarian is hired in the Southeastern region. Interested staff members are also encouraged to join the Chapter.

Recently I traveled to Richmond for a preview of the plans for the 1995 Annual Meeting which marks SEALL'S 40th Anniversary. I was delighted to see that the Local Arrangements Committee, chaired by Terry Long, is hard at work planning for a pleasant and entertaining time in Richmond. Joyce Janto, Program Chair, Barbara Folensbee-Moore, Education Committee Co-Chair for VALL; and Jim Heller, VALL President, also attended the Richmond site visit.

The Program and Education Committees are planning another round of outstanding educational programs that you will definitely not want to miss, so please plan to attend! Judy Meadows, AALL Treasurer, has accepted my invitation for a Chapter Visit during the SEALL/VALL Annual Meeting. In addition to bringing greetings and news from AALL, Judy has also graciously agreed to be a program speaker. Please see related articles in this issue of the newsletter for more details about the Richmond meeting.

By now you should have received an application form for the Lucile Elliott Scholarship. If you wish to be considered for the scholarship, please remember to return your completed application to Sally Curtis Askew by December 1, 1994.

Carol

EDITOR'S NOTE

The last time I edited a newsletter, more than a decade ago, I typed it on an IBM Selectric, page by page. Now I have Word Perfect 6.0 for Windows, e-mail, a fax machine, and voice mail to help me. The overriding similarity in the two experiences, however, is the helpfulness of members of the sponsoring organization. Thanks to all the contributors to this issue who have been so helpful. My trepidation level, as I prepare to take this to the printer, is much lower than it was a week ago.

SEALL GOVERNMENT RELATIONS COMMITTEE

The 1994-95 SEALL Government Relations Committee is organizing itself for a productive year. Sandra Dyer (North Carolina), Kelly Browne (University of Tennessee), and Timothy Coggins (Alabama), Chair, recently divided the SEALL states among themselves in order to begin monitoring information issues from the various states. The Committee needs your help! If you read of or are involved in legislative, administrative or other actions in your state that impact access to and the dissemination of information or other government relations actions that affect libraries and law librarians, please contact the person responsible for covering your state.

Help keep the chapter informed about government and other information policy issues; contact the GRC member who is monitoring your state with the news of developments in your state.

SEALL members recently have been dealing with many information dissemination and access issues. CAROL BILLINGS, current AALL President and the Law Library Director at the Louisiana Supreme Court Law Library, has appeared in both the American Lawyer and the ABA Journal. Carol chaired a committee appointed by the Chief Justice in Louisiana to study and recommend a vendor-neutral citation format. Louisiana last year became the first to adopt its own public domain citation system, implementing it July 1 for all cases decided after December 31, 1993. The new format uses the case name, the date of issue, and the document number, with pinpoint cites to the slip opinion. For now, lawyers still must use parallel references to West's Southern Reporter.

Readers of Library Journal (9/15/94 issue) saw LOLLY GASAWAY, Professor and Director of the Law Library at the University of North Carolina, on the cover. Inside the issue Lolly and Carol Risher, Vice President for Copyright and New Technology, Association of American Publishers, conduct the "Great Copyright Debate." The article focuses on publishers' concerns that their control of intellectual property will be compromised by the ease of electronic access. Librarians discuss the "fair use" provisions of the copyright act and how it and the rest of copyright laws apply to digital information.

On September 22, 1994, ROBERT OAKLEY, SEALL associate member and the Director of the Georgetown University Law Library, testified before the Working Group on Intellectual Property Rights of the National Information Infrastructure Task Force. Bob's testimony on behalf of AALL was endorsed by several other library associations, including the American Library Association, the Association of Research Libraries, and the Special Libraries Association. His comments address three areas raised by the Working Group's draft report: the proposal to expand the right to disseminate a work to include dissemination by means of transmission; the issues related to access to information by users and libraries; and issues of licensing.

Let the SEALL GRC members know what is happening in your state!

(This is the first of a regular column in The Southeastern Law Librarian on government relations and information policy issues).

AALL CALL FOR PAPERS

With all the hot library topics circulating in our midst, the annual Call For Papers competition represents a chance for SEALL members to distinguish themselves by turning out some well-researched papers. Those of you who have a special interest in the history of law librarianship should take heart because AALL is especially attuned to that subject area this year.

Entry forms are available in your AALL Newsletter or you can call AALL headquarters in Chicago. Entries must be postmarked by April 15, 1995. If you start now, you could be a couple of bucks richer come July. Think about it.

Ed Benefiel, Member
Call for Papers Committee

AALL GRANT AWARDS

Dear Rhea [Ballard, Grants Committee Chair, 1993-94] -

I just wanted to let you know how much I enjoyed the Annual meeting and how much the grant meant to me....It was truly a blessing to attend the Annual Meeting and participate in the programs, meetings, exhibits, etc....

Jill Jones

Dear Ms. Ballard,

...I am honored to have been given the opportunity to participate and will value highly the chance to learn more about law librarianship and to make contact with law librarians who have encouraged me to enter the profession along the way. As you know from my application, I am in the process of obtaining an M.S.L.S. degree from Catholic University, having received my J.D. from Wake Forest University School of Law last May...

Henry P. Robb

Dear Mrs. O'Brien [Marketing Services Coordinator, Lawyers Cooperative Publishing]:

...It was truly a magnificent experience and I want to reiterate how much I appreciate the funding. The Annual Meeting afforded me the opportunity to meet many law librarians, some of whom I'm certain will become more than just acquaintances in the years. These relationships will enhance my life both personally and professionally. I attended a variety of programs...The benefits of these programs will be experienced on a daily basis as I utilize and implement the ideas and information I gleaned...

Jill F. Jones

These are excerpts from a few of the thank-you letters written by recipients of grants in 1994. The Grants Committee was able to award grants to about one-third of those applying last year. The number of applicants reached an all-time high and, unfortunately, the amount contributed was less than received in the previous year. We cannot depend only on corporate donors; support will have to come from individual AALL members as well.

If you believe in the future of law librarianship, if you are grateful for the terrific job you have, if you could not function in that job without the support of your colleagues and the revitalization you get from attending the AALL annual meeting, then give a little back by contributing to the grants program. Please send your donation to American Association of Law Libraries, 53 West Jackson Boulevard, Suite 940, Chicago, IL 60604 and indicate on your check that it should be applied to grants funding. Donations are tax deductible.

Beverly Rubenstein
Chair, Grants Committee

SEALL SERVICE TO THE CHAPTER AWARD

The Seall Service to the Chapter Award was created in 1988 to honor those individuals who have provided sustained service to the Chapter. Traditionally presented at the annual SEALL meeting in the spring, previous winners include Ed Edmonds, Larry Wenger, Carol Billings, Hazel Johnson, Mary Forman and, most recently, Betty Kern.

The selection committee (Pamela Williams, University of Florida, Gainesville; Betty Kern, Law Library of Louisiana, New Orleans; and chair, Mary Smith Forman, Akerman, Senterfitt & Eldson, Orlando) is seeking the assistance of Chapter members to identify candidates for the award. The criteria for nomination are: 1) the candidate must have given special service to the Chapter; 2) the candidate must have a sustained record of service; 3) the candidate must have been a member of the chapter for at least five years; and 4) current and immediate past officers of the Chapter are not eligible. Please give serious thought to SEALL members who you feel satisfy the criteria and are deserving of the service award. The names of potential award winners can be forwarded to any member of the selection committee:

FLORIDA

The staff of the University of Florida Legal Information Center has begun planning for a new Law Library building which is being considered for construction adjacent to the University of Florida College of Law. Architectural plans should begin within the year.

Two new support positions have been added to the University of Florida Legal Information Center staff. Tim Harrell joined the staff as an assistant in the Computer Services Department and Jim Ruszczyk is an assistant in the Reference Department.

Carol Yecies is the new Evening and Sunday reference Librarian at Nova University Law Library. She is a recent Nova University Law School graduate.

Alva T. Stone, Head of Cataloging, Florida State University Law Library, attended the 36th annual Allerton Park Institute, sponsored by University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign School of Library and Information Studies, Oct. 23-25. The topic of the international institute was "New Roles for Classification in Libraries and Information Networks."

GEORGIA

Mercer University Law Library installed an Innovative Interfaces, Inc. automated library system in June, 1994. The OPAC, "LawCat", was made available to the public in August. The cataloging, acquisitions and serials modules have already been implemented, and implementation of the circulation module is planned for May of 1995. Lawcat is accessible via the Internet by telnetting to lawcat.mercer.peachnet.edu or 131.144.194.49. No login or password is necessary. The library celebrated the new system in September, with an open house for faculty and students. An article featuring LawCat is scheduled to appear in the new law alumni newsletter.

Jackie Shieh, formerly Catalog Librarian, Georgia State University College of Law Library, has joined the staff of the University of Virginia Library. Her new appointment is Original Cataloger for Electronic Resources. Jackie's new email address is ejs7y@poe.acc.virginia.edu. Barbara James, formerly Reference/Government Documents Librarian, Georgia State University College of Law, has relocated to Oak Ridge, TN.

The University of Georgia Law Library will be installing Innovative Interfaces, Inc.'s cataloging module in mid-November. The serials and acquisitions modules have already been implemented.

KENTUCKY

David Ensign, Director, University of Louisville Law Library, has been promoted to Associate Professor of Law. His article, "Facts--A Special Case," was published in a symposium issue of The Bookmark, (Winter 1993), a New York State Library publication.

Joyce A. McCray Pearson, formerly Reference/International Law Librarian, University of Louisville Law Library, has joined the staff at the University of Kansas School of Law Library.

Her new appointment is Electronic Services/Reference Librarian.

LOUISIANA

Tulane Law Library will be moving during the semester break to its new home on the top four floors of the new Law School building. The Tulane Law Library will be closed from December 17 until January 9. The new address will be 6329 Freret, New Orleans 70118; most phone numbers will stay the same.

James M. Donovan, Librarian for Access Services, Tulane Law Library, has received a PhD from Tulane in anthropology. His dissertation was based on work done in Brazil.

NORTH CAROLINA

The Clinton Administration has created an Information Infrastructure Task Force, chaired by Secretary of Commerce Ronald Brown. Its Working Group on Intellectual Property Rights is chaired by Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks Bruce Lehman. Three law librarians have been appointed to two of its sub-committees, the Sub-Committee on Fair Use in Libraries and the Sub-Committee on Fair Use in Universities. Laura N. Gasaway, Director of the Law Library at the University of North Carolina, represents the American Association of Universities; Robert L. Oakley, Director of the Law Library at Georgetown, represents the American Association of Law Libraries; Sarah K. Wiant, Director of the Law Library at Washington and Lee University, represents the Special Libraries Association. Other organizations, including the American Library Association, are also represented.

SOUTH CAROLINA

From the University of South Carolina comes the news that Prof. Marsha Baum, Library Director, was a panelist on Issues in Scholarly Communication at the 14th Annual Charleston (S.C.) Conference, November 3-5. Michael Brantley, who had been the reference assistant prior to obtaining his M.L.S., has been named to the temporary position of Assistant Reference Librarian. Investigating security issues for the library led Rebecca Anderson, Catalog/Media Librarian, to attend the Southeastern Librarians' Association meeting in Charlotte, where a Pre-conference Workshop on the topic of Security in Libraries was held October 26. Our Circulation Librarian, Karen Taylor attended the NOTIS Users' Group Meeting in Chicago, October 27-29.

In Columbia, Janet Meyer, Librarian at the Supreme Court of South Carolina, is delighted that the Court has just installed a computer network and she is working to increase electronic access. Barbara Staley moved from the law firm of McNair & Sanford to the firm of Sinkler and Boyd. From Rock Hill, Dawn Bartholic reports that she enjoys monthly lunch meetings with the Charlotte area law librarians. Elsewhere in South Carolina the scattered members report "surviving."

TENNESSEE

Pauline Aranas is the newly appointed Director of the Law Library and Associate Professor of Law at Vanderbilt University Law School. Ms. Aranas was formerly the Associate Director, University of Southern California Law Library, Los Angeles.

Congratulations to Anna Belle Leierson who recently reached her tenth anniversary of service as Acquisitions Librarian at Vanderbilt University Law Library.

The University of Tennessee College of Law Library recently broke ground for the renovation of, and addition to, the College of Law. The planned finish of the construction is December 1996. The Law Library will move into totally new space in the addition. The space for library purposes will increase from the present 28,349 square feet to approximately 59,000 square feet. The new library will have 180 carrels wired for computers, 2 computer labs for training and student use, numerous small group study rooms, a video viewing room, a reserve reading room, and a rare book/seminar room.

During the construction process the University of Tennessee College of Law Library will be compressed and reconfigured into the back portion of the existing building. While the Law Library will have the same amount of square footage as is presently does, the space (formerly used by the Legal Clinic and Faculty) is not structurally adequate for shelving. Therefore, part of the collection will have to be stored.

VIRGINIA

Washington and Lee Law School Library hosted the Virginia Association of Law Libraries for its business meeting and program on October 14. After lunch and business, Washington & Lee Law School's John N. Jacob, Archivist/Reference Librarian, presented an illustrated talk on the history of the Law School, and the genesis and development of the Lewis F. Powell Archives. Taking advantage of the occasion, a number of members of the Marshall-Wythe Law Library, College of William and Mary, visited their counter-parts at Washington and Lee. The two staffs spent part of the morning and lunch exchanging questions and ideas.

The State Council for Higher Education in Virginia (SCHEV) has undertaken the development of a "virtual library" project for the state's libraries and educational institutions, including private institutions as paying participants. Currently known as VIVA (Virtual Library of Virginia), the project is intended to include such features as document delivery, patron initiated ILL, electronic collections, and online bibliographic services. Law and medical libraries are to be included in future planning.

The separate VLIN (Virginia Library Information Network) project, of the Virginia State Library and Archives, has some similar objectives. Through VLIN, libraries at all levels have access to electronic services and network connections that might otherwise be prohibitively expensive for some individual institutions. Possibilities for coordination between the two are under study.

Steve Hinckley, Director of the Law Library and Assistant Professor of Law, University of Richmond School of Law Library, Terry Long, Assistant Law Librarian/Government Documents Librarian, Virginia State Law Library, Donna Bausch, Law Librarian, Norfolk Law Library, and Gail Warren, State Law Librarian, Virginia State Law Library, presented a program entitled "Legal Research for the Non-Law Librarian" at the Virginia Library Association annual meeting at the Williamsburg Hilton on Thursday, October 27, 1994. Jim Heller, Director of Law Library and Associate Professor of Law, College of William & Mary, Marshall-Wythe Law Library, presented a workshop on copyright law for librarians.

Sally Wambold, Technical Services Librarian, University of Richmond School of Law Library, is planning a program for the Pittsburgh annual meeting entitled "Net Gain--Banking on the Internet" and would appreciate receiving any questions from folks who want to avoid being overwhelmed by the Internet.

AALL Awards Committee Seeking Nominations

The Awards Committee is seeking nominations for the Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographical Award, the Marian Gould Gallagher Distinguished Service Award, and the Law Library Publication Award. These awards are judged according to the criteria listed below. Any AALL member may make nominations, and library staffs are encouraged to submit their own libraries' publications. Send all nominations to Bettie Scott, 1994/95 Chair, AALL Awards Committee, CUNY Law Library, 65-21 Main St., Flushing, NY 11367.

The deadline for nomination for all awards is March 1 and is followed strictly.

The Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographical Award recognizes a significant contribution to legal bibliographical literature. Bibliographies published in 1994 are eligible for consideration. The bibliography may be a book, a pamphlet, a periodical contribution or a publication in some other form. To nominate a bibliography, please provide as complete a description as possible. It is not necessary to submit a copy of the work, and the award is not limited to works by law librarians or AALL members. The deadline for nominations in March 1, 1995.

The Marian Gould Gallagher Distinguished Service Award is presented to an individual for outstanding extended and sustained service to law librarianship and to AALL. The award is presented to an AALL member nearing or following completion of an active professional career. Honorees may be recognized for achievement in a particular area of law librarianship, for service to the Association or for outstanding contributions to professional literature. The deadline for nominations for this award is March 1, 1995.

The Law Library Publication Award honors achievement in creating in-house user-oriented library materials outstanding in quality and significance. Creating in-house works may include, but not be limited to, writing, compiling or editing print or non-print materials. In-house works are those materials produced primarily for the local clientele of a library. Publications produced primarily for sale outside the local clientele or which are offered systematically for sale in large numbers are not eligible for this award. Procedure manuals and staff-oriented manuals are not within the scope of this award. The entries will be judged on quality, creativity, and usefulness, rather than on the magnitude of the project. This award is limited to AALL members and may be presented to an individual or the staff of a law library.

Eligible materials include, but are not limited to, bibliographies, library aids, guides, pathfinders, brochures, maps, legal research guides, newsletters, videotapes, slides, cassette tapes and other formats. Acquisitions lists are considered only if other information is included. Awards may be given in both print and non-print categories.

Unsuccessful entries may be resubmitted for consideration each year, and new editions or substantial revisions of previous award-winning entries may be submitted for new consideration.

Four copies of each entry should be sent to the Chair of the Awards Committee. The deadline for nominations for this award is March 1, 1995.

ON TO RICHMOND

by Lyn Warmath

The theme for the 1995 joint meeting of the Southeastern Association of Law Libraries and Virginia Association of Law Libraries to be held in Richmond, Virginia is Connected to the Past, Connections to the Present, Connecting to the Future. Several of downtown Richmond's most celebrated attractions embody this theme by combining a distinguished past with commitments to present and future technological progress.

Valentine Riverside

One of downtown Richmond's newest cultural attractions combines technological advances with the past as it depicts 400 years of Richmond's history. Located on the James River and within walking distance from the conference center, the Valentine Riverside features attractions as diverse as interactive time machines and an archaeological dig. Visitors see the Tredegar Iron Works, which once armed the Confederacy, while listening to a multimedia account of the Tredegar story told from the perspectives of its African American workers.

Valentine Court End

Valentine Court End focuses on the city's social, cultural and economic history as well as decorative arts, costumes and architecture. Included in the museum is the restored 1812 Wickham House, a National Historic Landmark.

Future plans call for the museum's catalog records, pictures of its vast costume collection and more than one million other photographs to be accessible on the Internet.

Museum and White House of the Confederacy

In the same neighborhood is the White House of the Confederacy, founded in 1890. The museum preserves and exhibits the nation's most comprehensive collection of Confederate and Civil War artifacts. Once the home of Confederate President Jefferson Davis, the museum has been restored to its wartime appearance.

But the museum's coverage and exhibits are not restricted solely to antiquity. Recent exhibits have been linked to current and sometimes controversial events. One exhibit coincided with release of the film Gettysburg.

Another exhibit, Embattled Emblem, addressed the controversy over display of the Confederate flag.

Virginia State Capitol

Shockoe Slip

For hungry and weary sightseers who are not too tired to shop, relief is right next to the contemporary conference center. Historic Shockoe Slip is now home to some of the area's most popular restaurants, boutiques, art galleries and antiques shops. Founded as a trading post in the 1600s, Shockoe Slip is a neighborhood of cobblestone streets and restored buildings saved from decline by urban restoration and historic preservation.

Money Museum and Federal Reserve Bank

Visitors may choose between a self-guided tour of the Money Museum or a guided tour of the Federal Reserve Bank, both in the same building and just blocks from the conference center. The museum includes primitive and ancient coins, gold and silver bars as well as animal pelts and tobacco, items once used for barter. As you leave this self-guided tour, be sure to ask for a free souvenir--a bag of shredded money equivalent to $80.

For a limited number of SEALL and VALL members, the Federal Reserve Bank will schedule a guided tour of the bank, one of the most technologically advanced systems in the world. Please make reservations early for the 1-hour tour scheduled on Friday, April 7, 1995, at 10:00 a.m. by calling Lyn Warmath at 804-771-5605.

The Federal Reserve Bank is a prominent example of one of Richmond's many institutions that connect to the past, present and future. A city of remarkable contrasts, Richmond promises to impress its varied visitors with its charming retreats into the past and timely glimpses into the future.

Coming Next: The next newsletter issue describes several Virginia sites that are convenient day trips from Richmond.

Public Relations: SEALL Style II

The Public Relations exhibit area at the SEALL meeting in Asheville proved to be so wildly successful, it has been scheduled again for the Richmond meeting. If you didn't have the opportunity to attend, SEALL member libraries displayed their publications and public relations efforts. A library representative was available to discuss the materials, how they were developed and how they were received. The program was modeled on AALL's P.R. Poster Session which has also enjoyed exceptional success the past two years.

This is YOUR opportunity to showcase the P.R. efforts of your library. Volunteers are needed. Please contact Hazel Johnson, Law Library Services Consultant, 4709 Lakeview

LUCILE ELLIOTT SCHOLARSHIPS

By now, you or your library should have received information about the 1994-1995 Lucile Elliott Scholarship program with the guidelines and an application form. A total of $3,000.00 will be made available to members through the Lucile Elliott Scholarship program. The amounts of the awards granted will be based on need and the actual cost of the activity for which the applicant is seeking assistance.

Last year the seven recipients used their awards to further their professional development by such activities as attending the SEALL annual meeting, the AALL annual meeting, institutes, and library school.

If the application form does not provide enough space to respond, you may attach an additional sheet. You may also include other information you feel is relevant to your application. Please read carefully the "Lucile Elliott Scholarship Guidelines" printed on the reverse of this notice for the criteria the Committee will use in evaluating your application.

Recipients of this award will be asked to report on how their scholarship money was used, and may be asked to write a brief article for the Chapter newsletter describing their experience.

Applications must be received by 5:00 pm, December 1, 1994.

Please contact a member of the committee if you have any questions.
