Greetings:

It is my pleasure to welcome the American Association of Law Libraries (AALL) to Florida this July for your 95th Annual Meeting and Conference, being held at the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando. While visiting the Sunshine State, I hope you will find time to experience the diverse cultures and unique charm of Central Florida and our great State. I would also like to extend a personal invitation to visit our State Capitol in Tallahassee.

Recognizing that librarians make vital contributions to their communities through leadership in information policy and planning, I am proud to have this opportunity to welcome AALL members from across the country to Florida.

I am confident that the educational programs, tours of various Central Florida law libraries and networking opportunities with your colleagues and other professionals will help to achieve your 2002 Conference program goal of "Creating Connections."

We are very proud of the great State of Florida, and know you will be glad you chose Central Florida to host your 2002 Annual Meeting. Please return soon!

Sincerely,
