

A Brief Bibliography on Usability Testing

By Liz McCurry Johnson

Reference Librarian, Professional Center Library, Wake Forest University School of Law

Maryellen Allen. (2002). A Case Study of the Usability Testing of the University of South Florida's Virtual Library Interface Design. Online Information Review 26(1), 40-53.

Catherine Brown. (2002). Usability Testing in Internet Time. Performance Improvement 41(10), 40-46.

Nicole Campbell, Sharon Walbridge, Janet Chisman, and Karen R. Diller. (1999). Discovering the User: a Practical Glance at Usability Testing. The Electronic Library 17(5), 307-311.

Janet Chisman, Karen Diller, and Sharon Walbridge. (1999). Usability Testing: A Case Study. College & Research Libraries 60(6), 552-569.

Albert H. Huang. (2003). An Empirical Study of Corporate Web site Usability. Human Systems Management (22), 23-36.

Anna Marie Johnson (2002). Library Instruction and Information Literacy – 2001. Reference Services Review 30(4), 359-389.

Susan Makar (2003). Earning the Stamp of Approval. Computers in Libraries 23(1), 16-21.

Laura Manzari and Jeremiah Trinidad-Christensen (2006). User-Centered Design of a Web Site for Library and Information Science Students: Heuristic Evaluation and Usability Testing. Information Technology and Libraries 25(3), 163-169.

Susan McMullen. (2001). Usability Testing in a Library Web site Redesign Project. Reference Services Review. 29(1), 7. doi:115722546 (Proquest).

Kim Vassiliadis and Lisa R. Stimatz, The Instruction Librarian's Role in Creating a Usable Web Site, Reference Services Review 30:4, p. 338 (2002).