Training and tools designed for law librarians.

Providing valuable education, professional development, and training opportunities to meet your most pressing needs is our top priority. From in-person events on relevant legal topics and national, regional, and firm-specific webinars to tools that help you better manage your resources, we strive to help you work more efficiently, confidently, and successfully. We encourage you to join us for our market events and educational opportunities specially designed for law library professionals, and we welcome your comments about them.

Let us extend a Texas-sized welcome to you as we kick off the 107th Annual Meeting and Conference of the American Association of Law Libraries (AALL). You’ll find countless learning and networking opportunities within the pages of this program, and as you explore them over the next few days, we hope you’ll find solutions to your workplace challenges, new and strengthened connections among your colleagues, and a renewed vigor for our profession. But in addition to the scheduled activities, there’s an entirely unique and vital experience to be found in the serendipitous conversations that can only happen here. Those who make the investment to join us regularly already understand this; first-time attendees will discover this as well.

This year’s conference offers dozens of sessions developed by fellow colleagues and designed around your needs, utilizing innovative learning styles and an outstanding lineup of speakers from inside and outside AALL. We look forward to boundary-challenging conversations generated by Andrew Keen, keynote speaker at the Opening General Session, and U.S. Public Printer Davita Vance-Cooks at the Association Luncheon. Take full advantage of the special programming developed with partner associations, poster sessions, coffee talks, and daily “hot topic” selections. Newer opportunities include “deep dive” topic explorations and the Monday Morning Recharge, a mid-conference boost that features expert-led sessions focusing on professional skills and development.

The Exhibit Hall will be buzzing with the latest tools to keep you at the top of your game, and each day of the conference offers special reasons to visit. Don’t miss Saturday’s Opening Reception or the Exhibit Hall Attendee Luncheon on Monday. Plus, check out the exhibitor showcases, learn more about your association at the Member Services Pavilion, and of course, be sure to stick around for the daily prize drawings! Enjoy the warmth of Texas – from the weather to the food – but it’s the warmth of our gathered community that we hope you’ll enjoy most.

AILA is the national bar association of more than 13,000 attorneys and law professors who practice and teach immigration law. AILA is the leading publisher of information and analyses serving immigration law professionals. AILA publications include an extensive line of “how-to” manuals, toolboxes, a comprehensive sourcebook, an online library, primary source material, and more.

AILALink is the comprehensive online immigration law library created and maintained by AILA. With this powerful tool, all the resources needed for immigration law research are located in one place:

- Primary and secondary sources
- Administrative court decisions
- All federal and state court decisions, state statutes, state codes, and the U.S. Code
- Immigration forms
- 75+ AILA publications (worth more than $4,000 alone!)

In addition to a newly redesigned website, AILALink has been upgraded with affordable and user-friendly options:

- Easy-to-use bookmark, note, and folder features to help keep research organized
- 3-, 6-, and 12-month subscription options
- IP access is now available to academic law libraries. * Visit the AILA booth for more details or contact ailalink@aila.org.

*IP access is available under the 12-month subscription option only. It does not include access to the bookmark, note, and folder features.

One of the most popular immigration references on the shelves of law libraries, Kurzban’s Immigration Law Sourcebook is the book immigration attorneys, judges, and government officials turn to for reliable, authoritative analysis of U.S. immigration law.

The 14th edition includes:

- Same-sex marriage issues
- Prosecutorial discretion regarding parents with children in the United States
- Detention standards for segregation/solitary confinement
- Changes in asylum adjudications under the Affirmative Asylum Procedures Manual
- Assisted Reproductive Technology (ART)
- 2,000 new case references

Make sure the “gold standard” for immigration law analysis is available for your library users.

Subscribe to the only online immigration law library that contains the most sought-after immigration law resources in one place.

Visit AILA at Booth #324 during the AALL Annual Meeting for more information on these and other resources.

Opening General Session
Keynote Speaker
Sunday, July 13
9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.
Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center –
Grand Ballroom C
Keynote Speaker:
Andrew Keen

Disrupting the Disrupters

Today, 25 years after the invention of the World Wide Web, the impact of the internet on the broader economy is profound. So what has been the impact of the web on traditional institutions like libraries, law firms, and publishers, and how can they adapt to the unavoidable realities of the 21st century networked economy? In both a historical and contemporary analysis of the digital revolution, Andrew Keen will present a vision of the future in which legal information professionals can survive and, indeed, flourish in our brave new internet world. It won’t be easy – particularly as machines become more and more adept at replacing the services delivered by 20th century experts like lawyers, publishers, and librarians. But the revolution is really only just beginning, and an increasingly automated and networked economy will inevitably continue to radically disrupt the traditional institutions and professions of the 20th century economy.

Andrew Keen is an internet entrepreneur who founded Audiocafe.com in 1995 and built it into a popular first-generation internet company. He is currently the host of “Keen On,” the popular Techcrunch chat show, a columnist for CNN, and a regular commentator for many other newspapers, radio and television networks around the world. He is also an acclaimed speaker, regularly addressing the impact of digital technologies on 21st century business, education, and society.

He is the author of the international hit, THE CULT OF THE AMATEUR: How Today’s Internet Is Killing Our Culture, which has been published in 17 different languages, and DIGITAL VERTIGO: How Today’s Online Social Revolution Is Dividing, Diminishing and Disorienting Us, his controversial critique of contemporary social media.

Networking Events

Exhibit Hall Opening Reception
Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center – Exhibit Hall C
Saturday, July 12 • 5:00 p.m. – 6:30 p.m.
Our San Antonio Meeting will kick off with an Opening Reception on the Exhibit Hall floor. This light hors d’oeuvres and cocktail reception, featuring local favorites, will allow attendees to gather to network and visit exhibitors without scheduling conflicts and will allow plenty of time for dinners and receptions to follow.
Attendees purchasing a Conference or Per-Day (Saturday) Registration will receive a ticket to this event; additional guest tickets are available for purchase.

Library Tours
Library tours will be offered during the Annual Meeting to showcase a variety of San Antonio area libraries. Pre-registration is required for all tours. All tours will begin at the Hospitality Booth in the registration area of the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center. Look for the “Library Tours Meet Here” sign near the 2014 booth. Confirmations have been emailed to all tour registrants.
Tour participants should wear comfortable shoes and consider bringing a hat or sunscreen due to warm weather. Note: All tours require a government-issued photo I.D. and AALL attendee badge.

Exhibit Hall Attendee Lunch
Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center – Exhibit Hall C
Monday, July 14 • 11:45 a.m. – 12:45 p.m.
sponsored by Wolters Kluwer Law & Business
Attendees are invited to join colleagues for a buffet lunch in the Exhibit Hall and spend time interacting with exhibitors, visiting the AALL Member Services Pavilion, and exploring Poster Sessions and the many informational tables in the Activities Area.

Thomson Reuters and AALL Member Appreciation Event
Knibbe Ranch
Monday, July 14 • 7:00 p.m. – 10:00 p.m.
Are your boots polished? Have you dusted off the cowboy hat? Join us for a night of Texas history, culture, and culinary delights at the Knibbe Ranch (and pronounced ka-NIB-bee). For this year’s Thomson Reuters and AALL Member Appreciation Event, we’re going “Deep in the Heart of Texas”!
Founded more than 150 years ago, the Knibbe Ranch is one of the few remaining Century Heritage Ranches in the state of Texas, which means the Knibbe family has been in a continuous agricultural endeavor (raising cattle) for more than a century.
Pack up your finest western wear – prizes will be awarded! The evening will include a lot of excitement, a little bit of Old West charm, food and beverage, dancing, warm fresh air, some cool conversations, and a whole lot of Texas flair!
Buses will begin loading at the Marriott Rivercenter starting at 6:30 p.m., with continued service until the last strum of the guitar at 10:00 p.m. Badges required.

- from pre-kindergarten through 12th Grade. You can help the Transitions Program the same wonderful experience with reading! Books are needed for every age group, in foster care, and at-risk youth. For many of us, books were an essential part of our childhoods – let’s make sure that San Antonio’s children and teens have that experience.

Sponsored by the Social Responsibilities Special Interest Section (SR-SIS), is the Transitions Program. In honor of our host city, the theme for the 16th Annual Children’s Book Drive, Remember the Books!

Deep Dives

Deep Dive programs are another newer addition to our educational offerings. These longer sessions — running across two concurrent program time slots on Sunday afternoon — are designed to deliver a more comprehensive exploration of some critical content areas. The additional time will afford more opportunities for you to interact, ask questions, and really dig deep — consider taking the plunge!

Exhibitor Showcases

This year’s learning continues in the Exhibit Hall’s Exhibitor Showcase Theater. These special vendor informational sessions offer opportunities to view new products and services — and the chance to ask questions without the distraction of a crowded exhibit booth. Get a closer look at the hottest innovations and solutions designed for the legal information profession. View the showcase schedule and descriptions on page 42.

Terms and Conditions May Apply

Marriott Rivercenter-Salon I
Saturday, July 12 • 9:00 p.m. – 10:30 p.m.

The Government Relations Committee is hosting a screening of the documentary, Terms and Conditions May Apply, as a part of the AALL Annual Meeting. The film reveals the hidden dangers in the click contracts that most of us readily agree to (without reading) when using various internet services and websites. Law librarians have a particular interest in the legal regimes that govern click contracts. In particular, as online access to library materials grows, the issue of user privacy grows, too. Beverages and snacks available for purchase. As a follow-up to this screening, please join us for a Coffee Talk discussion on Tuesday morning, devoted to the ideas and issues raised in the film (see page 41).

Remember the Books!

In honor of our host city, the theme for the 16th Annual Children’s Book Drive, sponsored by the Social Responsibilities Special Interest Section (SR-SIS), is “Remember the Books!” The 2014 recipient is the Transitions Program of the San Antonio Independent School District, which serves homeless students, students in foster care, and at-risk youth. For many of us, books were an essential part of our childhoods — let’s make sure that San Antonio’s children and teens have that same wonderful experience with reading! Books are needed for every age group, from pre-kindergarten through 12th Grade. You can help the Transitions Program in the following ways:

- Order a book online from the 2014 AALL SR-SIS Book Drive Wish List on Amazon.com.
- Drop off books at the SR-SIS table in the Exhibit Hall’s Activities Area.
- Give checks or online bookstore gift cards to any SR-SIS member during the conference.

Placement Services

Marriott Rivercenter Hotel – Conference Room 1 (3rd Floor)

The AALL Placement Office offers online job and candidate searching during the Annual Meeting. The office posts job listings and provides resume drop-off folders for each position available, offers instructions for using the online Career Center, and provides limited space for interviews. Placement Committee members will also be available for informal drop-in meetings to discuss resumes and interview questions. Interview rooms can be scheduled through the Placement Office. See page 5 for hours.

AALL Member Services Pavilion, Mentor Booth, and Activities Area

Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center – Exhibit Hall C

AALL hosts the Member Services Pavilion in the Exhibit Hall, featuring helpful information about your Association, a lounge with comfy seating to rest your feet, charge your phone/tablet at the charging station, and room to network with your colleagues. The Pavilion serves as a gateway to the AALL Activities Area, where you will find information about AALL committees, special interest sections, chapters, caucuses, and much more.

Meet the Candidates Forum, awards photo opportunity, and the Mentor Booth will all take place in the Member Services Pavilion. Stop by to get your photo taken with AALL’s professional photographer. You’ll be emailed the photo after the meeting, so you can upload it to your online profile on AALLNET and in other social media.

Visit the Mentor Booth to learn more about AALL’s Online Mentor Match Program. This is a chance for newer law librarians to meet mentors, ask questions, and get a taste of all the great wisdom mentors can provide. This is also a chance to ask for advice on more substantive questions about the profession, such as dealing with difficult work situations, job searches, moving between library types, professional development opportunities, etc. Who better to answer these inquiries than AALL’s mentors? See page 5 for hours.

Mobile App with CLICK!

Be sure to download AALL’s conference mobile app on your Apple, Android, or Blackberry phone or tablet — just visit My Conference Planner at https://event.crowdcompass.com/aall2014/ from your device. Apple and Android users can also search for the app in the iTunes or Play store. Once installed, you’ll have instant access to great features, such as the event schedule; information about speakers, exhibitors, and sponsors; and attendee information. Accept “push notifications” to receive important announcements and reminders while you’re at the conference. You can also play Click!, the new scavenger hunt game. Download today, and fit the entire Annual Meeting and Conference into the palm of your hand.

Child Care

Most conference hotels can provide the names of licensed, bonded services to baby-sit for AALL members. Please make your arrangements as early as possible since services vary by hotel. Educational programs and meetings are limited to registered attendees with badges.

Coat/Bag Check Service

AALL has arranged for a complimentary coat and bag check service for the final day of the conference, when many attendees might be heading to the airport from the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center. You may check luggage or personal items with the understanding that AALL and the facility are not responsible for lost or stolen items. The coat/bag check area is located in the East Registration area outside of Exhibit Hall C. Service hours on Tuesday, July 15, are from 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Items unclaimed by the end of the Conference will be taken to the HBGCC Security Office (210.207.7773). AALL is not responsible for lost or damaged items.

Conference Center Access

Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center is located on Market Street, between Bowie and Alamo Streets. AALL attendees staying at conference hotels should enter from Market Street. Doors open at 5:30 a.m.; AALL contracted rooms will remain open one hour after each day’s last scheduled meeting or event.

Daily Newspaper – The Mission

AALL’s conference newspaper—with its office located in the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center in Room 208—will help keep you informed during the Annual Meeting. Published four days (Saturday through Tuesday) in print plus two electronic editions, it features articles of interest to attendees, including program and meeting announcements, articles about featured speakers, and helpful information about the San Antonio area, including articles on historical sites, cultural events, tours, and dining. Interested persons wishing to submit articles or other information to The Mission should send them to Stacy Fowler (sfowler@stmarytx.edu). Onsite, the deadline is 1:00 p.m. for the next day’s edition.

Educational Program Materials Kiosks

sponsored by Wolters Kluwer Law & Business

Handouts can be printed from the Educational Program Materials Kiosks in the registration area outside of Exhibit Hall C and the area outside the educational program rooms on the Concourse Level of the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center. These materials are also available online on AALL2go for attendees to download at aall.sclivelearningcenter.com.

Evaluations

Attendees will receive an email each day with a link to our online program evaluations. Please take a few minutes to complete the paperless evaluations for the programs you attend. Your valued feedback helps to shape AALL’s continuing education opportunities.

Exhibit Hall C

Join us for the opening of the Exhibit Hall with the Opening Reception on Saturday, July 12, from 5:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. This is just the first of many opportunities to explore more than 20,000 square feet of exhibits featuring the latest professional materials and services.

Visit the Member Services Pavilion and stroll through the AALL Activities Area to learn the latest news from the AALL committees, special interest sections, chapters, and caucuses. Poster Sessions will also be on display. Be sure to check out the Exhibitor Showcase Theater, where vendors have scheduled informational demos and will be available to answer questions. The Exhibit Hall closes on Tuesday, July 15, at 3:00 p.m., so plan your time to take full advantage of this unique information marketplace. See page 42 for more information on daily activities in the Exhibit Hall. Exhibit Hall access is limited to persons 16 years and older unless they are accompanied by an adult.

First-Time Attendees

If this is your first AALL Annual Meeting and Conference, be sure to pick up a white “First-Time Attendee” ribbon at Registration. If you’re an Annual Meeting master, be sure to welcome our newcomers when you see them!

Hospitality/Information

The San Antonio Hospitality Booth is located in the registration area outside of Exhibit Hall C. Stop by and sign up for daily raffles and everything you need to know about experiencing San Antonio. Local members are here to help you get around the city and answer questions about places to eat, shop, and sightsee. Visit the Local Arrangements Committee’s website (www.lawlibrarian.org) and follow AALL’s Annual Meeting Twitter feed (#aall2018) to stay connected.

FLASH Meeting Room

Meeting attendees can claim a meeting room table on site and conduct a pick-up meeting or gather to discuss a topic of their choice. Visit Room 208B in the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center to reserve your table. Any meeting notifications should be promoted through social media vehicles and is the responsibility of the convener.

Lost and Found

Turn in, inquire about, or claim lost articles at the AALL Staff Office, located in the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center, Room 209, for the duration of the Conference. Direct all post-conference inquiries to the HBGCC Security Office at 210.207.7773. AALL is not responsible for lost or damaged items.
Medical Assistance

The First-Aid Office is located in the East Registration area in Room 1109 (outside of Exhibit Hall C) in the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center. Medical services are available throughout the conference. In the event of a medical emergency at the Convention Center, please dial the Security Office at 210.207.7773. At the Marriott Rivercenter, dial Security at “6070” on any house phone, or dial 210.554.6070 and ask to be directed. Always be prepared to state your location and the nature of the illness or emergency.

Novelty Badge Ribbons and Lanyards

Looking for ways to make your badge a little more expressive? Check out the wide array of novelty badge ribbons and lanyards for sale at the AALL Member Services Booth in the Exhibit Hall. All proceeds will benefit the AALL Grants Program, and at $1.00 per ribbon and $5.00 per lanyard, you can jazz up your badge in no time.

Philadelphia Conference Housing

Hotel reservations for the 2015 Annual Meeting and Conference in Philadelphia can be made starting Friday, July 11. Stop by the Housing Desk in the registration area during this year’s conference for information on AALL’s official Philadelphia hotels and to reserve the room of your choice.

Program Coordinator/Speaker Assistance

Speakers needing audio-visual assistance prior to their presentations or those who would like the opportunity to preview their presentations are encouraged to stop by the “Speaker Ready Room,” Room 215, in advance of their scheduled programs. For assistance with program changes, speakers and coordinators should visit the AALL Staff Office, Room 209, or dial 210.258.8129 for immediate assistance.

Registration Policies

Payment: Registrations received without payment will be held until payment is received.

Refund Policy: Cancellations and refund requests must be made in writing by June 27, 2014. Refunds will be processed less a $75 administration fee. No refunds will be given after June 27, 2014. Refunds will not be given for no-shows. Substitutions are always welcome as long as the original registrant has not already checked in on site.

No Wait-List: All registrations will be processed in the order in which they are received with payment. Once a ticketed workshop or event is fully subscribed, registration will be closed for that workshop or event. Wait-lists will not be maintained. Do not plan on attending a workshop or event unless you receive a confirmation notice that will admit you to the session. If you choose to pay by credit card, your card will be charged only for those sessions for which you receive a confirmed registration. If you make payment by check, your check will be deposited and a refund of the registration fee for the closed event will be mailed after the Annual Meeting.

Cancellation Policy: AALL reserves the right to cancel workshops, programs, and events if there is insufficient registration or for any other reason. AALL is not responsible for cancellation charges assessed by airlines or travel agencies, or other losses incurred due to cancellation of workshops, programs, and events.

Staff Office

The AALL Staff Office is located in the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center, Room 209, and can be reached by dialing 210.258.8129. See page 5 for hours.

Volunteers

We couldn’t have done it without you! We are grateful for all the volunteers who stepped up to assist the Local Arrangements Committee in offering the exciting events and activities taking place at this year’s Annual Meeting. If you see a green ribbon fluttering from a name badge, take a moment to thank these hard-working folks for their efforts.

PRE-CONFERENCE EDUCATION

AALL Hackathon: Building the Information Future (W-1)

OFFSITE – San Antonio Meeting Center
Saturday, July 12 · 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (7:30 a.m. check-in)

A hackathon is an event that brings together those with the knowledge of available resources and needs (e.g., law librarians) with those who have the technology knowledge to build new and unique projects, such as mobile and web applications. For this workshop, San Antonio programmers and designers will be invited to join with law librarians to use technology to transform a government data set into new resources that will increase the data’s accessibility and discoverability. Teams of librarians and technologists will work collaboratively to plan and implement these projects. The main goals for this hackathon are to create new information sources for patrons and librarians using government information, and to build relationships between the two groups that will encourage further collaboration in the development of information resources.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will collaboratively create new resources, such as mobile or web applications that make government data more accessible.
2) Participants will work in teams of diverse professions to draft a plan and timeline for their project.
3) Participants will utilize time management skills to complete their projects within the specified time.

Jennifer Wondracek, Coordinator and Moderator, University of Florida – Levin College of Law, Chiles Legal Information Center
This workshop is sponsored by the GD-SIS, the SR-SIS, the CS-SIS, and the RIPS-SIS.

Separate registration fee; advance registration required — no onsite registrations.

Registration fee includes: program, continental breakfast, lunch, and refreshments.

Techniques for Electronic Resource Management (TERMS): From Coping to Best Practices (W-2)

HBGCC-Room 205
Saturday, July 12 · 9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (8:30 a.m. check-in)

Most of us cope with our electronic resources, but how well do we really manage them throughout their entire life cycles, from first awareness of their existence until their cancellation or cessation? This workshop will build upon the February/March 2013 Library Technology Reports on “Techniques for Electronic Resource Management.” Led by the two authors of that report, this hands-on workshop will combine short lectures interspersed with small-group, hands-on work. Participants will develop the ability to create their own set of best practices for electronic resource management (ERM) that they can use within their own institutions.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to list the six workflows that comprise the TERMS framework.
2) Participants will be able to create a set of best practices for electronic resource management workflows within their individual libraries.

Eric C. Parker, Coordinator and Moderator, Northwestern University School of Law
Jill Emery, Portland State University Library
Graham Stone, University of Huddersfield

CONELL (Conference of Newer Law Librarians) (sponsored by LexisNexis)

Marriott Rivercenter-Salon I

Saturday, July 12 · 8:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m. (8:00 a.m. check-in)

The Conference of Newer Law Librarians (CONELL) is held every year at the American Association of Law Libraries Annual Meeting and Conference. The purpose is to welcome newer AALL members, introduce them to the Association and its leaders, and provide a setting for newer members to become acquainted with each other. Attendees will have an opportunity to talk with representatives from AALL’s Committees and Special Interest Sections to find out firsthand how to get involved and enjoy the benefits of Association membership, to meet new people, and have some fun.

CONELL attendees arriving on Friday, July 11, are invited to attend “Dutch Treat Dinners” at 6:30 p.m. that day. The dinners are a great way for attendees to meet each other and members of the CONELL Committee. Saturday’s events start with a continental breakfast at 8:00 a.m., and the conference begins promptly at 8:30 a.m., where attendees will meet the AALL Executive Board and participate in Speed Networking and Market Place. Later that day, a lunch will be followed by a cruise along the Riverwalk.

Separate registration fee; advance registration required—no onsite registrations.

Legislative Advocacy Training 2014: Advocacy Basics and Beyond

HBGCC-Room 207A

Saturday, July 12 · 8:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

AALL amplifies the voices of law librarians on essential information policy issues, including authentication, privacy, copyright, and open government. The strength of our advocacy program relies on the participation of our members around the country to speak out on the issues that affect the profession. Recently, AALL has championed greater access to government information, a balance in copyright law between rights holders and users, and the adoption of the Uniform Electronic Legal Material Act (UELMA) in the states.

At our annual Legislative Advocacy Training, you’ll learn how to raise your voice to advocate effectively for yourself, your library, and your profession. Participants in this half-day training will learn more about proposed federal and state legislation impacting law libraries and help to develop specific goals and tactics for influencing successful outcomes. Special guest speaker Jean L. Brady, chair of the San Antonio Public Library Board of Trustees, will share her grassroots advocacy tips for raising the profile of libraries.

As legal information experts and voting constituents, AALL members are in a unique and powerful position to influence the legislation and policies that affect the profession. Whether you’re a seasoned veteran or new advocate, the training will provide you with practical tips and tools to leverage your influence to advance AALL’s policy priorities.

The training is sponsored by AALL’s Government Relations Office and Government Relations Committee and is available at no additional cost.

Advance registration required.

PLL-SIS Summit: The Voice of the Client

Marriott Rivercenter-Salon E

Saturday, July 12 · 8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

The PLL Summit, now in its fifth year, continues as a vehicle for examining the impact and opportunities presented by change. Last year, we explored how to take charge — shaping ourselves, as well as the services we provide, to meet the changing needs of today’s law practice environment. This year, we will consider “The Voice of the Client” by delving into ways librarians can help their firms deliver legal services more efficiently and add value through client-facing initiatives.

In the morning, a keynote presentation and a panel discussion will address the value that librarians can bring to the lawyers and clients they serve by examining how real-world practice innovations and changing models of legal service delivery are combining to create new opportunities for library professionals. Following a relaxed networking luncheon, interactive afternoon break-out sessions will explore practical means to add value via various client-facing initiatives. The breakout sessions will be presented twice so that Summit participants can benefit from two of the three programs. Please visit the 2014 Summit blog (http://pllsummit.wordpress.com/2014-summit/) for updates and to obtain more information as the final agenda, programs, and speakers are confirmed.

Separate registration fee; advance registration required—no onsite registrations.
AALL Public Policy Update (A-1)
HBGCC-Room 217BC 90 min.

Track: GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify the Association’s major legislative and policy initiatives at the federal and state levels.
2) Participants will be able to describe the recent activities of the Copyright Committee, Digital Access to Legal Information Committee, Government Relations Committee, and Government Relations Office.
3) Participants will be able to plan advocacy tactics and campaigns for the upcoming year in coordination with AALL’s Government Relations Office, three policy committees, and their fellow advocates.

The annual public policy update connects AALL members with the Government Relations Office (GRO) staff, their fellow advocates, and AALL’s three policy committees (Copyright, Digital Access to Legal Information, and Government Relations) to promote and strengthen the Association’s grassroots advocacy efforts. In a new format debuted last year, program participants will hear about the GRO and committees’ past and upcoming legislative priorities before breaking out into small, specific discussion sections led by each of the three committee chairs. The program will offer members the opportunity to engage in advocacy efforts on issues relevant to the Association and to their work specifically, and will provide a crucial opportunity to strategize through networking and idea-sharing in discussion-based groups. Topics will include recent efforts for copyright reform in Congress, the Uniform Electronic Legal Material Act, and legislation proposed to protect personal privacy in response to the NSA’s surveillance programs.

Who Should Attend:
Librarians who are interested in information policy and advocacy

Elizabeth Holland, Coordinator, AALL Government Relations Office
Emily Feltren, Moderator and Speaker, AALL Government Relations Office
Anne E. Burnett, University of Georgia
Meg Kribble, Harvard Law School Library
Susan Nevelow Mart, University of Colorado Law School, William A. Wise Law Library

A Dialog for Catalogers and Reference Librarians: Class K from Alpha to Omega (A-2)
HBGCC-Room 217A 90 min.

Track: RC

Takeaways:
1) Participants will understand the structure of the classification system for comparative/uniform law and international law.
2) Participants will analyze the differences and similarities of the most important K subclasses, and learn to recognize their specific contexts.
3) Participants will preview evolving technologies for better access to information through an electronic portal powered by Class K.

Through an interview format, this program will highlight strategic ways to access content with an understanding of the essential architecture of the K classification. It will focus on a discussion about the nuanced differences between the law of international relations and the law of nations. The guided discussion will offer catalogers, as well as reference librarians, a better understanding of how call numbers searches can effectively be utilized. The second part of this program consists of a demonstration of the revolutionary Library of Congress Portal, which contains the entire K schedule linked to other data. It will give a rare opportunity to observe the practical importance of linked data, and will prompt a discussion about effective use of classification for content browsing and map interface.

Who Should Attend: Catalogers and access librarians

Lia Contursi, Coordinator, Columbia University
Brian D. Striman, Moderator, University of Nebraska – Lincoln
Tina Gheen, Library of Congress
Jolande E. Goldberg, Library of Congress
Jennifer Gonzalez, Library of Congress

Vendor Shootout at the Alamo: Current Awareness Tools (A-3)
HBGCC-Room 217D 90 min.

Track: LM

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn the differences between three current awareness tools from the librarians who use them.
2) Participants will be able to judge which tool will best meet their needs without any hype.

Tired of checking the internet for current awareness? Frustrated with services that aren’t ready for prime time? Three librarians will demonstrate and discuss three of the hottest new tools to simplify providing current awareness products to your firm: BNA Convergence, InfoNGen, and Manzama. Using real examples from real librarians, the presenters will demonstrate the advantages and disadvantages of each new tool.

Are You “Licensed” to Vote? Emerging Voter ID Laws and the Right to Vote (A-4)
HBGCC-Room 006AB

Track: GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to compare instances in which the right to vote has been impacted by the passage of various voter identification laws.
2) Participants will be able to identify up to five exceptional resources for researching voter ID laws and election protection efforts in various jurisdictions.
3) Participants will be able to explain the impact that Shelby County v. Holder has made on voter ID laws and election laws.

The right to vote is guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution, and the 1965 Voting Rights Act is a time-tested legislative measure to protect that right. In June 2013, however, the U.S. Supreme Court held a key component of this law unconstitutional. In Shelby County v. Holder, the Court lifted requirements that states and some municipalities receive federal pre-clearance prior to changing state election laws. No longer subject to federal approval, some states almost immediately began to enact voter identification laws. This program will review the Shelby decision, highlight recently enacted voter ID laws and election protection efforts, as well as discuss the most useful resources for researching voter ID laws.

Who Should Attend: Academic, government, firm, and public librarians who are interested in researching voter ID laws and who work with patrons needing to research voter registration information and election law topics

Allen R. Moye, Coordinator, DePaul University College of Law
Rhea Ballard-Thrower, Co-moderator, Howard University Law Library
Michelle Cosby, Co-moderator, North Carolina Central University School of Law Library
Josh Douglas, University of Kentucky College of Law

Deep Dive: Inventing the New Classroom (A-5)
HBGCC-Room 214AB

Track: IT

Takeaways:
1) Participants will experience the students’ perspective and evaluate classroom techniques for use in their instruction.
2) Participants will discover how to intentionally design activities to reinforce learning outcomes.
3) Participants will examine concrete examples of exercises, assess their usability, and modify them for their own unique classroom situations.

It’s not like baking a cake or building a rocket! Legal research is an applied skill without a formula. Students may include attorneys, law students, and paralegals, and those with no legal background. Teaching environments are also diverse, from snapshot instruction and social media interactions, to full-semester research courses and embedded research assistance in capstone courses. Quizzes used for attendance and/or pre-class preparation can reinforce memorization and preparation goals, while clicker questions and in-class exercises can allow students to collaborate. In line with both of these strategies is the opportunity for instructors, as well as students, to utilize social media tools, including Twitter and Google Hangouts. These tools give instructors unique opportunities with their students, but they also present significant challenges. Therefore, many instructors are left wondering what these quizzes and exercises should look like, as well as what they can do to utilize social media in a positive way. This session will offer student experiences and examples to use and adapt for your classroom.

Please note: This deep dive session is scheduled for 2.25 hours, running longer than sessions A1-A4.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who has created outside-the-lecture-box work for students, as well as those who want to start but don’t know how

Debra L. Denslaw, Coordinator and Speaker, Valparaiso University Law School Library
Susan M. Boland, University of Cincinnati College of Law
Jesse Bowman, Valparaiso University Law School Library
Jennifer Mart-Rice, Northern Kentucky University
Takeaways:
1) After identifying seven critical organizational citizenship behaviors, participants will learn how to hire and train with these behaviors in mind.
2) Participants will learn strategies and techniques to properly apply the concept of “managing up,” in order to effectively take a central role as both team member and leader.
3) Participants will learn the best practices in terminating an employee with unsatisfactory work performance, including what may legally be said about the termination and how to answer questions from remaining staff.

This program is designed to lead a manager through the entire life cycle of the employment relationship: (1) how to hire and train the best “organizational citizens” – those who display altruism, sportsmanship, and organizational loyalty; (2) how to make others recognize your value within the organization by “managing up” – creating an open exchange of ideas between staff and their supervisors to yield measurable results; and (3) how to terminate employees who do not perform satisfactorily, as even with the best efforts, some employees’ performance will be unsatisfactory.

Please note: This deep dive session is scheduled for 2.25 hours, running longer than sessions A1-A4.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who work in a team environment, especially those who have supervisory responsibilities

Advocacy for Everyone: Get That Funding, Get That Program Rolling, and Get That Bill Passed

(B-2)

HBGCC-Room 214AB 60 min.

Track: [GCP]

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to apply the skills used most often in issue advocacy to professional and personal requests for funding, creating programs, attending conferences, and more.
2) Participants will confidently be able to identify and plan presentations and other support materials needed to make professional and personal requests of administrators, board members, legislators, and other decision makers.
3) Participants will be able to demonstrate and practice these advocacy skills as an “elevator pitch” and will take away a template for creating future pitches.

Most people think of advocacy as strictly related to political and social issues. However, in our work and personal lives, we all need to make requests that can be unpopular or difficult to explain to decision makers. This session will teach basic issue advocacy skills, and then show participants how they can use these same drafting, presentation, and other skills when making pitches for new programming, funding, or other projects in their everyday lives.

This program is sponsored by the LISP-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Attendees, from first timers to seasoned veterans, who need to be able to make compelling and persuasive arguments to succeed in making changes and trying new things at work, at home, and in the public arena.

Sarah K. C. Mauldin, Coordinator, Smith, Gambrell & Russell, LLP

Librarians and Law Firm Pricing: Learn the Stakes, Get Involved

(B-3)

HBGCC-Room 217BC 60 min.

Track: [IT CDC RRCS LM]

Takeaways:
1) Participants will gain valuable information about the pricing process in a law firm and what clients are demanding.
2) Participants will learn how to take on a more active role in the pricing process.

Law firms are under significant pressure to change the way they price and deliver their services. Rate discounts are pretty much played out, so firms are turning toward alternative delivery options focused on reducing the cost of their services. In this quest for better-faster-cheaper solutions, those people within the firm who offer high-value services at reasonable costs have the potential to become very important. This means an opportunity for librarians, as they are often the best subject matter experts in a firm. This session will take a high-level look at the state of legal pricing, and then dive into various ways librarians play a pivotal role and provide high value to the process. Attend this session and walk away with a good understanding of the pricing functions at a firm, and some concrete ideas for how you might take a more active role in this interesting and changing space.

This program is produced in collaboration with the Legal Marketing Association.

Who Should Attend: Law firm librarians who want to understand alternative pricing and how to get involved in the process.

Toby Brown, Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld, LLP
Gregory R. Lambert, Jackson Walker L.L.P.
The Accidental Archivist: Creating Archives on a Shoestring Budget (B-4)
HBGCC-Room 217A
60 min.

Track: CDC RRCS GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn about methods to assess and evaluate unprocessed materials (papers, photographs, ephemera) held by their library.
2) Participants will be able to plan and prioritize achievable goals with respect to these existing archival collections.
3) Participants will be able to list and assess available options for getting free/low-cost help to process or otherwise organize their archival collections.

Whether you’re a librarian at a law firm, academic library, or county law library, your institution has a history. These materials may have accumulated slowly over time, or they may be the sudden product of an attorney, professor, or staff member’s retirement. However, most law libraries cannot spare the funding necessary for an archivist. This program will offer strategies for librarians with little or no archival training. Participants will discuss ways to assess and evaluate the content/value of unprocessed materials; how to craft achievable goals for an archive given limitations of time, money, and existing personnel; and how to recruit cost-effective personnel, such as interns or student workers, to assist with archival projects.

Who Should Attend:
Librarians who have or expect to have archival materials, but do not have the resources for a dedicated archivist

Sabrina Sondhi, Coordinator and Speaker, Columbia University
Alissa Black-Dorward, Fordham University Law Library
Jennifer S. Murray, Maricopa County Superior Court Law Library
Bess Reynolds, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP

Libguide Guidance: Innovative Uses for Libguides (B-5)
HBGCC-Room 214CD
60 min.

Track: IT RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify at least three creative ways to use Libguides.
2) Participants will be able to design a template to create a series of Libguides with a cohesive theme and branding.
3) Participants will be able to create Libguides that rely on eye-catching visuals linking to library resources.

While the majority of Libguides come from academia, they aren’t just for academic research. Librarians in all types of law libraries need to alert their users to the resources and services available to them, and Libguides are an excellent way to do that. Libguides can also be used to brand your library and expand your audience reach, and they’re a great way to showcase your creativity. Come learn about creative uses for Libguides, including how they’re being used in other disciplines; walk step-by-step through the creation of an interactive, visually stimulating Libguide; and brainstorm innovative ways to use Libguides in your own library.

Who Should Attend:
Librarians in all types of law libraries, particularly firm and court librarians, who are interested in using Libguides; librarians already using Libguides who want to enhance their Libguide toolkit

Shannon Melissa Roddy, Coordinator and Speaker, American University, Washington College of Law
Amy Taylor, American University, Washington College of Law
Hot Topic: Deans and Directors Roundtable: Reinventing Law School Libraries for a Digital Age (B-6)
HBGCC-Room 217D
60 min.
Track: LM IT RRCS T CDC GCP
Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn how declining budgets and digitalization are redefining law school libraries.
2) Participants will gain perspective from several law school deans and library directors who have responded to these trends by working together to decide issues such as: which items and services are (in)dispensable; whether and how to restructure the library’s mission, personnel, physical space, and method of delivery; and what the law school library of 2020 will look like.

In this roundtable discussion, law school deans and law school library directors will address issues shaping the future of law school libraries. Law libraries are rapidly evolving from print to digital, from warehouse to service, from a place of quiet, solitary study to a vibrant learning community. But change is not easy, especially when it occurs this quickly, and most especially when it occurs in the context of declining law school enrollments and pressures to cut library budgets significantly. The panel will discuss how progressive law librarians and law school administrators can manage this change effectively, while simultaneously enhancing the value of the library to students, faculty, and the law school institutionally.

Who Should Attend: Law school library directors, faculty, and staff
Richard Bales, Coordinator and Moderator, Ohio Northern University, Claude W. Pettit College of Law
Filippa Marullo Anzalone, Boston College Law Library
Barbara A. Bintiff, University of Texas, Jamail Center for Legal Research
Michael G. Chiorazzi, University of Arizona College of Law Library
Emily M. Janoski-Haehlen, Valparaiso University Law School Library
Vincent Rougeau, Boston College Law School
Eric W. Young, Nova Southeastern University

Recharge: Integrated Visibility: Cultivating Solid Practices for Career Success (R-1)
HBGCC-Room 214AB
90 min.
Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn the definition of “integrated visibility” and how it can drive career success.
2) Participants will learn techniques for increasing the visibility in organizations, creative ways to follow up with people you meet in business situations, and the criteria for allocating time to developing relationships.
3) Participants will learn how to strengthen relationships that lead to mutually beneficial alliances.

When it comes to establishing and maintaining a successful career, there are so many moving parts to consider – especially when you factor in the flurry of social media. Those who can create a collective balance of visibility inside their company or organization will always find more opportunities. Since all opportunities come from people, building a strong reputation and brand can make a real difference in the results you achieve. A powerful network of contacts does not happen by accident, and it is not as simple as doing good work or having a LinkedIn profile. How are you integrating your visibility to be seen as the expert you are? Choosing to connect with people is the first step. Get motivated to cultivate solid business practices, and take the next step toward achieving your career goals.

Recharge: Own the Room: Presentations That Captivate and Win Over Any Audience (R-3)
HBGCC-Room 217D  90 min.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will discover how to shed reliance on “um,” “uh,” and other filler words, and be able to add more life and energy to their voice and delivery.
2) Participants will learn tools for handling Q&A with panache and assurance.
3) Participants will learn how to project confidence (even when it isn’t there) and connect more deeply with any audience.

What if you could stand in front of an audience and deliver a presentation so powerful that it kept them enraptured from start to finish? You can if you understand body language and what causes people to pay attention. Last year’s Own the Room session garnered such rave reviews that we knew there was more to explore; this year’s session will focus on physical delivery skills. At this dynamic program, you’ll discover how to increase your credibility, enhance your vocal projection, and add enthusiasm to even the driest subject. Learn the best practices for commanding attention and getting results every time you speak.

Spotlight on ADA Accessibility (C-2)
HBGCC-Room 214AB
60 min.

Track: IT

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to discuss the latest trends and developments in Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliance.
2) Participants will be able to identify potential ADA compliance issues in their libraries and instructional programs.
3) Participants will be empowered to adopt and promote accessibility initiatives in their own libraries.

Law librarians provide people with services and connect users with information. But for people with disabilities, these efforts are frequently ineffective because of unintended, even unseen, barriers. This program will address this problem by turning the spotlight on accessibility. Distinguished panelists will speak from a variety of perspectives, including library management, ADA compliance, and advocacy. Participants will have an opportunity not only to learn about the latest issues, trends, and developments in these areas, but also to share their own experiences and insights in a moderated break-out session. Participants will become more knowledgeable about the ADA, and better equipped to propose and implement changes to increase accessibility within their libraries.

Who Should Attend:
Anyone who is interested in making libraries more accessible, understanding how the ADA pertains to law libraries; avoiding compliance issues; becoming a change agent for people with disabilities
Jennifer Wondracek, Co-coordinator and Moderator, University of Florida – Levin College of Law, Chiles Legal Information Center
Susan David deMaine, Co-coordinator and Speaker, Indiana University, Robert H. McKinney School of Law
Edward T. Hart, University of North Texas – Dallas
Mariah Kilbourne, City of Seguin

The Once and Future Federal Depository Library Program (C-1)
HBGCC-Room 217A
60 min.

Track: LM

Takeaways:
1) Participants will discuss how the Government Printing Office is transitioning from a printing office to a digital commons for distributing, sharing, and preserving government information.
2) Participants will provide input on the National Plan for the Future of the Federal Depository Program.

The way people access and use government information is changing. With library space at a premium and the rise of eGovernment, this session will gather stakeholders to discuss with the Superintendent of Documents the future of federal documents, including access to, and long-term preservation of, government information through the proposed Federal Information Access Library Program.

This program is sponsored by the GD-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Library directors and librarians who are experiencing transitions, or thinking about changes, within their government documents collection
Camilla Tubbs, Coordinator, University of Maryland School of Law
Emily Feltren, Moderator, AALL Government Relations Office
Mary Alice Baish, U.S. Government Printing Office

Click and Go: Ensuring Smooth Access to Online Resources (C-4)

HBGCC-Room 217BC 60 min.

Track: IT

Takeaways:
1) Participants will evaluate three low-cost ways to test link integrity within their websites and catalogs.
2) Participants will be able to define the five most common error codes and messages.
3) Participants will discuss best practices for catching and repairing broken web links in their websites and catalogs.

As the percentage of holdings to which libraries provide electronic access increases, librarians also assume responsibility for a new type of material maintenance that wasn’t taught in library school. “Dead” links, regardless of the reason for the breakdown, frustrate users and hurt a library’s credibility to deliver access to needed information. By systematically reviewing web links in both the website and catalog, librarians can address broken links before anyone else discovers them.

Who Should Attend: Librarians with direct links to key electronic holdings on their web pages or in their catalogs

Suzanne R. Graham, Coordinator, Moderator and Speaker, University of Georgia
Julie Horst, U.S. Court of Appeals – 9th Circuit Library
Keiko Okuhara, University of Hawaii

CI Essentials: Pushing Research Boundaries (C-5)

HBGCC-Room 217D LIVE WEBCAST! 60 min.

Track: LM

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn about the essential resources, both conventional and unconventional, that law firm librarians can rely upon for successful competitive intelligence (CI) research.
2) Participants will be able to assess which resources will best complement their current research tools and allow them to broaden their own CI offerings to reflect the strategic goals of their firms.
3) Participants will learn about actual high-value CI reports from the professionals who write them and ascertain the best information to include.

Your managing partner has just asked you to identify the key players in an emerging practice area that your firm is pursuing. Where do you turn for the key information you need to support the firm’s business goals? In this panel presentation, competitive intelligence professionals will share their favorite tools and resources for business, industry, and competitor research. They will also discuss how they assemble their research into high-value reports for firm decision makers.

Who Should Attend: Law firm and corporate librarians who are or may be called upon to do research for CI; library managers who need to determine which resources would be the best investment for their departments’ time and budget

Louella Randall, Coordinator and Moderator, Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP
Mark A. Gediman, Best Best & Krieger LLP
John L. Jackson, Sutherland Asbill & Brennan LLP
Julia E. Stahl-Hughes, Stradley Ronon, Stevens & Young LLP

Diversity in the Workplace (C-6)

HBGCC-Room 006AB 60 min.

Track: LM

Takeaways:
1) Participants will explore the impact of diversity in education and, subsequently, in the workplace.
2) Participants will recognize how their perceptions affect hiring diversity in the workplace.

Many corporations now evaluate their preferred law firms based on the diversity of their attorneys. This session will explore how diversity in education affects diversity in the workplace. This will be a continuation of the discussion that began at the 2013 Diversity Symposium in Seattle.

Who Should Attend: Law librarians who want to create a diverse workplace and are concerned about diversity in the legal community

Amy J. Eaton, Coordinator, Perkins Coie LLP
Theresa Cropper, Perkins Coie LLP
Innovation the Google Way: Implementing Google’s 80/20 Program in Your Library (D-1)

HBGCC-Room 214AB
75 min.

Track:  IT  LM  GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to examine and assess their institutional priorities and projects and determine if 80/20 will be beneficial to their libraries.
2) Participants will be able to identify and implement steps in creating a successful 80/20 program in their libraries.
3) Participants will be able to create the policies and procedures necessary to implement a successful 80/20 program.

Google’s 80/20 Innovation program allows its employees to spend 20 percent of their time on projects and innovations that they are passionate about. The program has resulted in ideas such as Adsense and Orkut. Applying the 80/20 program in libraries is a great way to create innovative library programs or provide cross-training between departments.

This program is sponsored by the ALL-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Library managers who are interested in encouraging library projects or who want to implement cross-training between departments; anyone who is interested in how the 80/20 program can work in libraries

Yasmin Sokkar Harker, Coordinator, CUNY School of Law Library
Julian Aiken, Yale Law School, Lillian Goldman Library
Maureen Sullivan, Maureen Sullivan Associates

Hip Tips for the Acquisitions Librarian (D-2)

HBGCC-Room 214CD
75 min.

Track:  LM  GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify and assess the usefulness of acquisitions tools and methods, including pivot tables.
2) Participants will create a network of colleagues to contact when a problem or need arises.
3) Participants will discuss routine acquisitions tasks and strategies for approaching and accomplishing the non-routine tasks.

Acquisitions education and training is not addressed much, if at all, in library schools. Instead, it is learned on the job for most librarians. A panel of acquisitions librarians will share tips and tools they use to efficiently do their work on a daily basis, as well as some of their more perplexing problems and the steps taken to resolve them. The program will provide an opportunity to learn in a communal atmosphere, where participants will be encouraged to share their own experiences with other attendees.

This program is sponsored by the TS-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Acquisitions librarians and others in the organization who may be involved with acquisitions tasks

Ajaye Bloomstone, Coordinator and Moderator, Louisiana State University
Shyama Agrawal, Duke University School of Law
Alan Keely, Wake Forest University
Ian Kipnes, California Western School of Law Library
Jean L. Willis, Sacramento County Public Law Library

Distinguished Lecture: What We Know and How We Think About It (D-3)

HBGCC-Room 217A
75 min.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will gain techniques for more effective negotiation to better influence those over whom they have no formal authority.
2) Participants will explore ways to improve working relationships and team function.
3) Participants will learn to avoid the consequences of unintentional communication.

Professor Danner will offer thoughts regarding the value of professional knowledge in law librarianship, examining how we find and develop it, and whether it is worthy of concern in the face of current challenges to the future of law libraries and the profession.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who interact with law students and attorneys for teaching or practicing legal research

James M. Donovan, Coordinator, University of Kentucky Law Library
Richard A. Danner, Duke University School of Law
Cool Tools Café (D-4)

HBGCC-Room 006CD

Track: LM, IT, RR, CDC

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn about existing or emerging technologies.
2) Participants will have the opportunity to interact with the presenters in small group settings.
3) Participants will learn how to implement these technologies in their home libraries.

The variety of the demonstrations in this single session epitomizes the dynamic role of today’s legal information professional. Presenters will demonstrate tools in small groups at individual tables. Attendees are free to wander from table to table observing the presentations and interacting with the presenters. The casual, small group setting allows for the opportunity to discuss why the technologies are useful, how they work, and how they can be implemented. Tools for legal research, collaboration, marketing services, instruction, productivity, citation, presentation, and website functionality are examples of past demonstrations.

Who Should Attend: Participants from all types of law library settings — academic, public, and private law libraries; for beginners to those who consider themselves tech savvy

Patrick H. Butler, Co-coordinator, University of Connecticut School of Law Library
Vicki Steiner, Co-coordinator, UCLA School of Law, Hugh & Hazel Darling Law Library

Finding Common Ground: Linking Law Student Learning with Law Firm Research Needs (D-5)

HBGCC-Room 217BC

Track: LM, IT, RR, CDC

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify the research skill sets law firms require of new attorneys, so that law schools can better align teaching to meet law firm needs.
2) Participants will be able to increase their awareness of current law school methods of teaching research, so that law firms are cognizant of current school practices.
3) Participant groups will create at least three new opportunities for law schools to meet the research needs of law firms and summarize their group plans for all participants using an online program called Question Tool.

A disconnect exists between how law firm research works and the research skills law schools are teaching, which is compounded by assumptions both sides make about the other’s needs. This program is aimed at bringing both sides of the researching coin together to correct faulty assumptions and to provide a venue for examining the research skills most tailored to creating contemporary research-ready attorneys. A panel of two law school and two law firm librarians will provide their perspectives on the critical bridge between law school instruction and firm research needs. The panelists will be assisted by attendee roundtable discussions targeted to narrow current gaps in the legal research learning process.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who interact with law students and attorneys for teaching or practicing legal research

Anna Russell, Coordinator and Moderator, University of San Diego
Margaret (Meg) Butler, Georgia State University College of Law Library
Lucy Curci-Gonzalez, Kenyon & Kenyon LLP
Jane Larrington, University of San Diego
Steven Antonio Lastres, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP

Hot Topic: Land Grabbing: Accessing Information to Protect Property Rights of Indigenous Peoples
HBGCC-Room 217D
75 min.

Track:
T IT CDC RRCS LM GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn the legal history of land grabbing, the legal issues surrounding it, current practice, and how it affects indigenous peoples in various parts of the world, with a focus on North America.
2) Participants will be introduced to a wide variety of inter-governmental, non-governmental, and local organizations that work on property issues, as well as the best print and electronic resources with legal content that are relevant to Indigenous Nations in the Americas.
3) Participants will discuss the new Library of Congress (LC) classification scheme for Native American law (KIA-KIX), including where literature on land grabbing fits into LC classification.

As the recent events in Russia and Ukraine illustrate, the issue of land grabbing is widespread and very much alive, but it is not relegated to foreign lands. The United States has a long history of land grabbing. Last year the U.S. government implemented the Land Buy-Back Program, targeting Indian fractionated land consolidation with the intent to remedy past wrongs; its effectiveness is widely discussed and debated. This program will clarify the complicated legal concept and current practice of land grabbing. Presenters will provide an overview of land grabbing with a particular focus on the United States, including history, current practice, legality, and the effect on Indigenous Nations today. They will include an explanation of the trust relationship between the U.S. government and Indian land; and will discuss where literature on land grabbing fits into the LC Classification scheme. They will also share information and resources available on this subject matter, including both domestic and international non-governmental organizations working on this important issue.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who are interested in property rights, human rights, and indigenous issues; those who work with colleagues involved with these issues, or serve patrons from indigenous communities; foreign and international law librarians; collection development librarians and catalogers

Demonstrative Evidence, Courtroom Technology, and Trial Practice
HBGCC-Room 217A
75 min.

Track:
IT IT RRCS GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to assess types of demonstrative evidence and how such evidence is used in trials.
2) Participants will be able to identify rules of evidence to consider for the use of demonstrative evidence.
3) Participants will be able to describe guidelines for creating electronic court rooms.

Demonstrative evidence – such as charts, audio recordings, re-enactment animation, and day-in-the-life videos – is used to effectively communicate information, illustrate facts, and outline series of events to jurors and judges. Recognizing the value of such evidence, attorneys are increasingly utilizing graphics, audiovisuals, and presentation technologies in courtrooms. Law schools are also upgrading moot court rooms to prepare students for electronic trial practice. This program will examine specific types of demonstrative evidence in relationship to trial practice, review rules of evidence applicable to demonstrative evidence, as well as discuss key audiovisual and technological components for electronic court rooms in academic and trial practice settings.

This program is sponsored by the M/AV-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Academic librarians at schools with trial courtrooms; firm and county librarians who are interested in litigation issues; librarians involved in instruction and reference services; those who work with colleagues involved with legal issues; foreign and international law librarians; collection development librarians and catalogers

Access to Justice: Crossing Borders Together, a Report of the Special Committee (E-2)
HBGCC-Room 217BC
75 min.
Track:
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify best practices and new ideas across all types of law libraries for increasing Access to Justice (ATJ).
2) To address geographic disparities in law library services to pro se litigants, participants will be able to describe basic, characteristic core resources and services of public law libraries, as well as public libraries, regardless of size and geographic location.
3) Participants will be able to explain what academic, private firm, and state, court, and county law libraries can do in collaboration to strengthen the efforts of each type of library’s outreach to ATJ programs and services.
Many efforts are underway to cope with underfunded courts and strapped legal aid agencies. Law librarians in all types of libraries can facilitate Access to Justice. The AALL Access to Justice Special Committee will share its findings about ways law librarians are working independently and collaboratively to promote Access to Justice. Participants will be inspired to identify resources and services they can provide in or through their libraries and join the movement.
This program is sponsored by the SCCLL-SIS.

Learning to Lead Yourself and Others Through the Unexpected (E-3)
HBGCC-Room 214AB
75 min.
Track:
Takeaways:
1) Participants will receive tips on improving their resiliency.
2) Participants will develop skills to maintain control after unexpected setbacks.
3) Participants will understand how to lead with integrity through difficult and pressure-filled challenges.
Take a deep breath. The unexpected happens, and when it does, you have an opportunity. What matters is not whether we falter, but how we rescue ourselves after a misstep. In order to lead yourself, a team, or an entire library through any unexpected event, resilience is a necessary skill. This unique program will explore setbacks and professional disappointments from a constructive perspective. It will provide attendees with the leadership skills to not only embrace setbacks, but also effectively bounce back from them. Whether you have encountered a personal misstep in your career, a professional misstep in guiding your team through a work project, or a financial misstep due to the economic crisis, this program will give you survival tips to rebound.
Who Should Attend: Librarians from all library types

Back to the Future: AALL and Law Libraries in the Digital Age (E-4)
HBGCC-Room 217D
75 min.
Track:
Takeaways:
1) Participants will take away practical ideas on how to move their libraries into the future by hearing what other libraries are doing.
2) Participants will better understand the methodology for trendspotting, so that they can anticipate change rather than merely react to it.
3) Participants will be inspired to further the work of the Association and its entities on future-directed research and educational activities.
In July 2002, The Special Committee on the Future of Law Libraries in the Digital Age issued their report, “Beyond the Boundaries.” It was a glimpse into the future of law libraries, with possible scenarios for each type of library. Predicting the future is hard! What did we get right? What did we miss? How would we do things differently? Join us for a lively session in which we examine the current state of law libraries in the digital age, with real-life examples in which libraries have moved “beyond the boundaries” of a traditional library. Whether the focus is on KM, global resource management, preservation, access to justice, or outsourcing, these libraries have led the way.
Who Should Attend: AALL members who are interested in the future of law libraries
Michael Saint-Onge, Coordinator, Moderator, and Speaker, LexisNexis

Mexican Law and Legal Research: Overcoming the Challenges (E-5)

Track: RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to demonstrate a basic understanding of the Mexican legal system.
2) Participants will be able to describe the sources and methodology needed to conduct Mexican legal research and address the significant challenges involved with research in this jurisdiction.
3) Participants will be able to summarize recent legal developments in Mexico, including the newly reformed Ley de Amparo, and developments related to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

Mexico and the United States share a border of almost 2,000 miles, yet their legal systems are immensely different, both historically and functionally. The U.S. legal system follows the common law tradition, whereas the Mexican legal system is rooted in the civil law tradition. Thus, researching Mexican law requires a distinct skill set and presents significant challenges beyond language differences. Designed with the U.S. legal researcher in mind, this program will introduce participants to the Mexican legal system, emphasizing its unique features and recent developments. Participants will leave the program armed with a complete “how to” for Mexican legal research, including a detailed handout highlighting English language sources.

This program is sponsored by the FCIL-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who want to learn more about Mexican law and how to field questions pertaining to it

Julienne E. Grant, Co-coordinator and Speaker, Loyola University Chicago School of Law Library

Discussing Big Data Opportunities with Firm Partners, from ‘No-Brainers’ to ‘Game Changers’ (E-6)

Track: LM IT CDC RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will receive a blueprint for planning and executing a big data project that includes best practices and guidelines for where to start and who to involve.
2) Participants will gain a deeper understanding of big data’s current and future role in the legal profession, and learn about specific legal big data scenarios that will broaden this understanding—and perhaps even inspire projects of their own.
3) Participants will acquire a list of tools and resources (many that they already own) which can serve as big data “kick-starters.”

Legal “big data” is not the next big thing—it’s the now big thing for law firms, legal vendors, and corporate legal departments. A growing number of law firms are initiating big data projects—some focused on legal spend analytics, competitive intelligence, and predicting future growth/revenue, and some launched on the practice side to help increase attorney “win rates” with better information and actionable intelligence. In all scenarios, it’s about leveraging data (big or small)—and that’s where library service professionals can step in and deliver for their attorneys and partners. With the knowledge to connect disparate data sources and transform them into coherent information streams, the ability to identify quality data versus tainted sources, and the skill to ask the right people the right questions, law librarians will deliver big data results for their firms. In addition to providing big data facts and realities within a library services context, panelists will share their successes and challenges, as well as provide actionable how-to’s, when it comes to kick-starting your own big data project.

This program is produced in collaboration with the International Legal Technology Association.

Who Should Attend: Library services professionals who want guidance in understanding (and making) the business case for big data and maximizing their own big data; library/research services and knowledge management professionals who want to better serve their firm leadership with data-driven projects

Orbis Cascade Alliance Summit: A Library Management Service Model for the Future (F-1)
HBGCC-Room 217A
75 min.
Track: LAA CDC IT LM
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to assess the benefits and drawbacks of a consortial library management service from the big picture – i.e., what's in it for a director?
2) Participants will be able to assess the benefits and drawbacks of a consortial library management service from the nuts and bolts – i.e., what's in it for technical services?
3) Participants will be able to assess the benefits and drawbacks of a consortial library management service for user experience – i.e., what's in it for the people on the front lines?

With ILS costs skyrocketing and library budgets shrinking, libraries are increasingly turning to new models of affording the ILS they want. Open Source ILSs are one answer. Consortia are another. The Orbis Cascade Alliance is implementing a new library management service to be shared by all 37 members of the consortium. Soon all these libraries in the Pacific Northwest will be sharing not only a catalog, but also cooperative collection development, digital initiatives, and discovery services. Hopefully, this will result in better services for students, faculty, and staff. Is it worth giving up the autonomy of a separate institutional ILS? What are the costs, and what are the benefits?

This program is sponsored by the OBS-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Library directors, public services librarians, technical services librarians – from any type of library

Success in the City Council: Thoughts on a Successful Bid for Equality (F-2)
HBGCC-Room 217BC
75 min.
Track: LM RRCS T GCP
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to name two key factors that led to the success of advocacy efforts to ban discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity in San Antonio, Texas.
2) Participants will be able to identify two potential pitfalls, or roadblocks, for similar local advocacy efforts.
3) Participants will be able to articulate three effective strategies for local advocacy on similar issues.

Nearly 200 cities across the country have enacted ordinances in recent years that prohibit bias by municipal employees or in city contracts over an individual’s race, sex, age, religion, or sexual orientation. But last year in San Antonio, a nondiscrimination ordinance that includes protections for sexual orientation and gender identity turned into a divisive political battle, which exposed racial, religious, and gay-and-straight divisions. Panelists from the front lines of this conflict will share their advocacy experiences and provide tactics for reaching an equitable outcome when confronted with opposing views – even when things get personal. Get a unique perspective on the forces that were in play during a watershed in our host city's history, and learn strategies for boosting your own local advocacy efforts.

This program is sponsored by the SR-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who is called upon to be an advocate; anyone who is required to present or entertain opposing viewpoints and reach an equitable outcome

Making a MOOC: Instruction Beyond Physical, Linguistic, and Generational Boundaries (F-3)
HBGCC-Room 214AB 75 min.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will analyze the benefits and pitfalls of using massive open online courses (MOOCs) to introduce and supplement legal research and legal education.
2) Participants will examine the roles that librarians can play in their institution’s development of a MOOC.

Massive open online courses (MOOCs) are gaining in popularity. Individuals around the world are using these courses to further their knowledge. Librarians, as traditional information providers, instructors, and copyright experts, are uniquely qualified to participate in MOOCs. Our three panelists will discuss their experiences, both as teaching support and MOOC professors. Afterwards, participants will break out into groups to discuss the concept of MOOCs and the ways to design an engaging MOOC for an international audience. At the end of the program, participants will receive an annotated bibliography that surveys the literature on MOOCs for those colleagues interested in exploring the topic further.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who is interested in distance education, cutting-edge copyright issues, technology, or outreach to students/individuals beyond their traditional campuses; anyone who provides faculty support

Jennifer Wondracek, Coordinator and Speaker, University of Florida – Levin College of Law, Chiles Legal Information Center
Kyle K. Courtney, Harvard Law School Library

Just in Time: Models of Demand-Driven Acquisitions for E-Books (F-4)
HBGCC-Room 217D 75 min.

Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn about different models of demand-driven acquisitions, including consortial, mediated, and direct contracts to purchase e-books.
2) Participants will better understand questions to ask and possible issues involved when negotiating contracts and setting up demand-driven acquisitions programs within their libraries.

Is your library thinking about using demand-driven acquisitions (DDA) to acquire e-books? This session will explain the various models (consortial purchasing, purchasing from a mediated service such as YBP, and purchasing directly from the publisher), as well as the decisions you’ll need to make before implementation (e.g., number of short-term loans, number of concurrent users, and methods of user authentication). Speakers will also address questions of contract negotiation, obtaining and customizing MARC records, selection parameters, and usage data. They will provide a guide for implementing a DDA program, as well as advice about issues to consider and problems that may be encountered in setting up a DDA program.

Who Should Attend: Technical services librarians (acquisitions and cataloging), collection development librarians, and librarians who assist users with e-books

Janet Sinder, Coordinator and Moderator, Brooklyn Law School Library
Gilda G. Chiu, Brooklyn Law School Library
Edward T. Hart, University of North Texas – Dallas
Jacob Sayward, Fordham University Law Library
IP Research for the Frugal Librarian: Tips for Supporting (Expected and Unexpected) IP Requests (F-5)
HBGCC-Room 006AB
75 min.
Track: RRCS
Takeaways:
1) Participants will discover what free intellectual property (IP) resources are available and how to use them for various types of requests.
2) Participants will be able to apply knowledge of these resources to instruct attorneys, students, and public patrons in the use of these tools.
3) Participants will be able to identify when and why a pay service may be the better option for certain types of requests.

Intellectual property practices come in all shapes and sizes. Whether you are a librarian who receives the occasional request or one who supports a dedicated IP practice, IP research can present challenges at any level. When can you rely on free websites and when do you need to consider a pay service? This program will demonstrate how to respond to various types of requests regarding patents, trademarks, and copyrights using free resources. It will incorporate scenarios taken from real work situations and highlight when a pay service may be the better option. Participants will also gain helpful tips and observations for teaching IP research skills to attorneys, students, and public patrons. The program, whose speakers include a firm librarian with an IP practice and an academic librarian who teaches a dedicated IP research course, will include time for questions from the audience.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who currently fields reference questions or teaches a course involving intellectual property records—or may do so in the future

Eric Montes, Moderator, McDermott Will & Emery LLP
Joan Shear, Boston College Law Library

Leveraging SharePoint for Library Services (F-6)
HBGCC-Room 214CD
75 min.
Track: LM CDC IT RRCS
Takeaways:
1) Participants will learn how to leverage existing SharePoint systems for library administration purposes, including dissemination of information to their attorneys, and search.
2) Participants will learn how to utilize native SharePoint capabilities to develop custom lists for electronic resource management (ERM), project management, and other library processes.

SharePoint is used in myriad ways in law libraries – to connect catalogs, disseminate and update information, track disparate information, and for search. A law firm librarian who has built a SharePoint system for ERM management with custom lists and uses Teamsites for project management to manage groups will offer insight on the experience. A consultant who works with law firms to develop SharePoint will show how easy it is to set up and use SharePoint in library services for search and delivery of information. For librarians and knowledge managers who are already using SharePoint, this session will provide opportunities to explore, learn, and possibly implement some new SharePoint projects. For those new to SharePoint, examples of how to use it to yield some easy successes will be shared.

This program is produced in collaboration with the International Legal Technology Association.

Who Should Attend: Law firm librarians and/or managers who currently work with SharePoint or are involved in implementing, managing, or maintaining SharePoint processes in their firms; those who are interested in taking their SharePoint to the next level – by learning to create and use custom lists to deliver and manage their library’s information, or by engaging a consultant to help them do it

Ditch PowerPoint and Pick Prezi for Your Presentations (G-1)
HBGCC-Room 214AB  45 min.

Track:  IT  T  RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to describe what Prezi is and how Prezi helps presenters communicate an idea by connecting the idea to details through a canvas format.
2) Participants will be able to summarize the reasons for Prezi’s popularity, and list three ways that Prezi compares favorably and unfavorably to PowerPoint.
3) Participants will be able to create a simple Prezi presentation from a blank canvas.

How many times have you steeled yourself for another boring PowerPoint presentation? How many times have you used PowerPoint because you thought it was your only choice to present an idea? This session is designed to introduce you to an alternative presentation software, Prezi. Discover how to create more dynamic and effective presentations by watching a demonstration of Prezi’s zoom feature and noting how its canvas backdrop gives you the freedom to design presentations without borders in which themes are tied to supporting details. Bring your laptop to this program to design a simple Prezi, and assess whether this presentation format is feasible for your needs.

This program is sponsored by the RIPS-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Novices, enthusiasts, and skeptics who give presentations, including librarians in the areas of reference, instruction, or technical services; those looking for an alternative to PowerPoint

Elizabeth Caulfield, Coordinator and Speaker, Texas Tech University School of Law Library
Emily Lawson, University of Houston, O’Quinn Law Library

Emerging Issues in Copyright: What You Need to Know (G-2)
HBGCC-Room 217A  45 min.

Track:  LM  IT  CDC  RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify and discuss specific legislative and judicial developments in copyright that could affect their libraries.
2) Participants will be able to identify ways to assess and address the impact of emerging issues in their libraries.

Law librarians and other information professionals must regularly address copyright issues in their organizations. Copyright is a rapidly developing area, and it is essential for law librarians and other information professionals to be able to identify, assess, and address emerging issues. This program will present the latest, critical issues in copyright, as well as the most current legislative and judicial developments. Panelists will also discuss ways for participants to assess and address the impact of these developments in their organizations. Possible topics include Congressional reform of copyright law, e-reserves, first sale doctrine, mass digitization, and law firm copying.

Who Should Attend: All law librarians and information professionals who work with copyrighted materials and copyright issues

D.R. Jones, Coordinator, Moderator, and Speaker, University of Memphis
Meg Kribble, Harvard Law School Library
Kevin Miles, Norton Rose Fulbright

Perfecting Your Elevator Pitch (G-3)
HBGCC-Room 214CD  45 min.

Track:  LM  GCP

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to utilize helpful tips and tools to assist them in creating and using elevator pitches.
2) In small breakout groups, participants will learn by doing: they will craft elevator pitches and then practice delivering them to each other.
3) Participants will be able to apply the “elevator pitch” communication style to enhance the marketing of their library services and demonstrate their value in their daily work life with users, partners, deans, and court administrators.

How do you answer the question, “So, what’s going on in the library?” Embracing the elevator pitch can help you answer that question in a way that succinctly markets your library services and communicates your value. Learn how to utilize the elevator pitch communication style to spark interest in your library with users and stakeholders. Explore how to create and deliver engaging elevator pitches, with opportunities for hands-on learning and discussion during the session.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who wants to learn how to refine their verbal communication to be more engaging and persuasive; ideal for individuals in management or those with daily direct user contact; wallflowers, introverts, and folks who fear being approached by strangers at a party

Wendy E. Moore, Coordinator and Speaker, University of Georgia
Francis X. Norton, Jr., Law Library of Louisiana
Empowering the Next Generation of Law Firm Librarians (G-5)
HBGCC-Room 217D
45 min.

Track:
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to raise the library’s visibility in their organization and advocate for the value their library brings to the organization.
2) Participants will be able to plan for and market nontraditional library services to a variety of organizational players, including those not typically served by reference and technical services.
3) Participants will be able to identify four strategic priorities that they can use when promoting their value to management.

Information professionals are naturally inquisitive and collaborative with each other, but outside their own community, they often struggle with visibility. This program will arm information professionals with tools and techniques to advocate for their positions in their firms. Two AALL chapters, LLSDC and LLAGNY, successfully created the Showcase, a new communication, marketing, and outreach experiment. By using the Showcase as an example, the speakers will examine the different ways that law firm information professionals communicate and market their expertise to administrators.
This program is sponsored by the PLL-SIS.

Who Should Attend:
Library managers preparing their strategic plans or communications with firm management; those who manage staffing and project development; researchers who are interested in learning about trends in alternative roles librarians can play for private firms; public and university librarians who are interested in the role librarians play in the “business of law firms”; and those engaging in similar alternative roles who seek tips and strategies on how to market and plan alternative roles in their own institutions

Scott D. Bailey, Coordinator and Speaker, Squire Sanders (US) LLP
Emily R. Florio, Moderator, Finnegan, Henderson, Farabow, Garrett & Dunner, LLP
Steven Antonio Lastres, Debevoise & Plimpton LLP

Coping Strategies for Library Service Providers (G-4)
HBGCC-Room 007CD
45 min.

Track:
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify five signs of stress in themselves and in co-workers.
2) Participants will be able to identify four ways to avoid stress build-up and four effective ways to release stress.
3) Participants will be able to conduct an informal environmental stress assessment in their workplaces.

This program teaches library personnel to identify the stressors present in everyday interactions, and how signs of stress can manifest themselves in the behavior and thinking processes of individuals. With input from a mental health professional, participants will explore strategies, both short- and long-term, for managing reactions to stress. Finally, participants will be encouraged to conduct an informal environmental stress assessment, with concrete suggestions for change, in their own workplaces.

Who Should Attend: Reference, circulation, and technical services staff; library administrators
Catherine I. McGuire, Coordinator and Speaker, Maryland State Law Library
James G. Durham, Maryland State Law Library
Lisa Landry, Licensed Clinical Psychologist

Hot Topic: Beefing Up Your CV with Altmetrics

(G-6)
HBGCC-Room 217BC
60 min.

Track: IT

Takeaways:
1) Participants will become knowledgeable about altmetrics and their value.
2) Participants will be introduced to, and discuss, free and fee-based tools available for gathering altmetrics.
3) Participants will be able to analyze the value of altmetrics for their CV and for their library users.

Metrics can help us deduce the tangible measures of seemingly intangible impacts, including scholarly/professional contributions. Altmetrics, often referred to as the “invisible metric,” are frequently thought of as metrics about articles, but they can be applied to people, journals, books, data sets, presentations, videos, web pages, etc. By tracking the mileage of their work (bookmarking, blog mentions, retweets, Wikipedia citations, and pins), authors and experts can get a better view of how they are impacting their profession. An alternative to the widely used journal impact factor and personal citation indices, these new metrics do more than just cover citation counts. Altmetrics examine other aspects of the impact of a work, such as how many data and knowledge bases refer to it, article views, downloads, or mentions in social media and news media. Find out what altmetrics can reveal about your own professional reach and maximize that value.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964: Celebrating Its 50th Anniversary

(H-1)
HBGCC-Room 217A
60 min.

Track: RRCS

Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to identify key resources for conducting detailed legislative history research.
2) Participants will be able to examine the role of President Lyndon Johnson in the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.
3) Participants will be able to explain the effect of the Civil Rights Act on desegregation of public accommodations and schools, as well as employment discrimination.

The Civil Rights Act of 1964, celebrating its 50th anniversary in 2014, is considered one of the most important laws in United States history. The act ended the segregation of public accommodations in the South, established the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to handle all types of employee discrimination, and created a mechanism to desegregate the public schools by cutting off federal funding to noncomplying school districts. This session will review the legislative process in the passage of this act, and discuss President Lyndon Johnson’s intimate role in that passage.

This program is sponsored by the LHRB-SIS.

Who Should Attend: Librarians who are interested in civil rights and want to gain insight into the history of the act and its effects upon American society after its passage

The Bookless Law Library: Potential Reality or Flight of Fancy? (H-3)
HBGCC-Room 214AB 60 min.
Track: LM IT RRCS CDC
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to evaluate their institutions’ collection development policies for effective and appropriate print-online balance.
2) Participants will be able to initiate discussions in their institutions about the print-online balance of their collections.
3) Participants will be able to explain the benefits and downfalls of having a bookless or minimal print law library.

The nation’s first "bookless" public library recently opened in San Antonio. Hear from the head librarian at BiblioTech, who will discuss her experiences in creating this library. Learn about their patrons, what their staff of 12 does, how their digital collection is used, and what occupies their physical space. Also, find out how this unique library is faring, including the community’s response. Then, a manager from a large law firm will explain how his firm shrunk its print collection by more than 60 percent, but has maintained the same staffing levels as eight years ago. He’ll share attorney and staff responses to this change, as well as compare electronic and print collection costs. Is a bookless library in your future? You might be surprised!

Who Should Attend: Primarily for firm and academic law librarians, but relevant to those in all law libraries
Liz Reppe, Coordinator and Moderator, Minnesota State Law Library
Laura Cole, BiblioTech
Ashley Eklof, BiblioTech
Robert Oaks, Latham & Watkins

Gov Docs Basics — Where There Is No Such Thing as a Stupid Question (H-4)
HBGCC-Room 217BC 60 min.
Track: RRCS CDC GCP
Takeaways:
1) Participants will be able to demonstrate the basic procedures for managing a government documents collection.
2) Participants will discuss problems and concerns with each other, focusing on the exchange of ideas between newer and more experienced librarians.
3) Congratulations! You've just inherited a government documents collection! Now what? This session will give librarians an overview of how to manage a depository collection, including how to comply with the patchwork of federal laws and legal requirements, and will address common misconceptions. Participants will have a chance to ask any questions they may have about working with government information.

Who Should Attend: Anyone who wants to learn more about government documents or how to manage a government document collection (print or online), including newer librarians, seasoned law librarians who find themselves assuming depository coordinator duties, directors or department heads who supervise depository coordinators
Camilla Tubbs, Coordinator and Moderator, University of Maryland School of Law

Law Librarianship in the Digital Age (H-5)
HBBGCC-Room 006AB  60 min.

Track:  LM   IT   GCP

Takeaways:

1) Participants will better understand the latest developments in information technology, knowledge management, competitive intelligence, and more as they pertain to law librarianship.
2) Participants will get an overview of cutting-edge technologies relevant to law libraries, including mobile device management, web-scale discovery, cloud computing, social software, intranets, etc.
3) Participants will discover how libraries are taking traditional library practices and updating them for the digital age through new technologies and trends, such as virtual reference.

Legal librarianship has changed a great deal with the advent of new web and mobile technologies, and it continues to evolve daily. Forward-thinking law libraries are not only embracing new trends and technological advancements, but are looking ahead to see what's on the horizon for law libraries in the future. This panel will cover the most cutting-edge developments that face today's modern law libraries, including mobile device management, web-scale discovery, competitive intelligence, digital-age marketing, and much more. These critical issues are approached from the perspective of tech-savvy library leaders, who will each discuss how forward-thinking libraries are tackling traditional library practices, such as reference, collection development, technical services, and administration in the Digital Age. This lively panel will be done in PechaKucha 20X20 style—a Japanese presentation style in which each presentation consists of 20 images (or slides), each shown for 20 seconds.

Strategic Technology Imperatives for Law Librarians (H-6)
HBBGCC-Room 214CD  60 min.

Track:  LM   IT   GCP   GEC

Takeaways:

1) Participants will be able to identify emerging technologies (those expected to be mainstream within the next 5-10 years) that will impact law firms—specifically, law library operations.
2) Participants will learn strategies for growing technological capabilities within their library services/knowledge management departments to take full advantage of emerging technology solutions and tools—and help their law firms compete in a rapidly evolving landscape.

What is the future of technology for librarians? The International Legal Technology Association (ILTA) asked that question in the Legal Technology Future Horizons research project, a global study that explored how advances in information technology could impact the legal industry over the next decade. The report findings identified a number of key technology influencers, many of which directly affect librarians and library services in law firms and law departments. The capacity for rapid IT-enabled innovation will be a critical differentiator for law librarians as disruptive innovations and emerging technologies are expected to have major impact on the way library services evolve. The presenter will reveal the eight critical challenges that emerged from the research project as they relate to law firm and law department librarians—information you can use to help your law firm make good technology decisions.

This program is produced in collaboration with the International Legal Technology Association.

Who Should Attend: Library services professionals in firms who are interested in the potential impacts of technology on the legal industry; those who want to understand the key technology influencers that affect library services in law firms
TJ Johnson, Coordinator, International Legal Technology Association

Partner Association Program Collaboration

AALL members face many of the same challenges as members of other legal associations, and there is much to be gained from sharing the collective knowledge among us. Recognizing the critical role technology plays in shaping the legal information profession, AALL has collaborated once again with the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA) on a special series of legal technology programs on Tuesday. These programs focus on the partnership between library services and technology professionals, and the sessions will benefit those who have an interest in the technologies that support knowledge management and library services. And with an eye on communicating the value of the profession, this year brings a new partnership with the Legal Marketing Association (LMA) on Sunday.

The Annual Review of Law and Social Science, in publication since 2005, strives to enhance the understanding of the complex connections between law, culture, social structure, and society by focusing on social scientific studies of law and law-like systems of rules, institutions, processes, and behaviors. This journal provides multidisciplinary insights into the impact of law, aggregated human behavior and interactions, analytic and normative jurisprudence, and the dynamics of decision making and enforcement of authoritative rules, as well as the variations and changes in legal institutions and the management of social change by these institutions.
