

SUN. 7/9 4:15PM — C-2: LET'S ALL WIKI WIKI! CREATIVE USES FOR WIKIS IN ANY LIBRARY

2006 AALL ANNUAL MEETING AND CONFERENCE

Date/Time: Sun, Jul 9 4:15pm - 5:15pm

More libraries are using “wikis” (online collaborative document systems) to manage projects and provide patron services. Libraries have now created wikis to answer reference questions, manage e-reserves, and highlight useful electronic and Internet resources. Some are using wikis to manage their intranets. This program will describe the many possibilities of wikis in a library environment. Participants will assess two applications used to create wikis and identify the differences between wiki syntax and HTML. (No prior experience with wikis is needed.)

Coordinator and Speaker:

Deborah Ginsberg - Chicago-Kent College of Law Library
