

TUE. 7/17 2:45PM — I-1: STEP AWAY FROM THE PODIUM! TIPS, TRICKS AND TECHNOLOGIES FOR ENERGIZING TRAINING SESSIONS AND LEGAL RESEARCH CLASSES

2007 AALL ANNUAL MEETING AND CONFERENCE

Date/Time: Tue, Jul 17 2:45pm - 3:30pm

Computer presentations can greatly enhance training sessions and research classes. Unfortunately, they can also shackle presenters to the podium, freezing them in place. New technologies such as wireless mice, Sympodiums and tablet PCs provide law librarians with new options-freeing them from their laptops and allowing them to engage their audience fully. Interactive presentation software can turn static slides into shared workspaces, allowing law students, new associates and other learners to practice new concepts or to illustrate their own ideas instantly. This session will highlight technology and applications that can enliven any presentation, training session or legal research class.

Coordinator and Moderator:

Deborah Ginsberg - Chicago-Kent College of Law Library

Speaker(s):

Deborah Ginsberg - Chicago-Kent College of Law Library

Eric Gilson - Rutgers University Law School Library, Camden