LSRD-SIS and Law Repositories Caucus co-hosted a hands-on workshop: OpenRefine as a tool to connect with Wikidata on June 16, 2022 at 11 a.m. PST. The workshop was instructed by Digital Initiatives and Scholarly Communications Librarian Joseph Cera at UC Berkeley Law Library. 35 were in attendance.

Guidelines of Hands-on Practice:

- Use CSV to create a new project
- Reconcile
- Create columns from reconciled data
- Recommendation for an extended project: from existing project, build a schema to push new data to Wikidata and create new records for authors without records
- How to update OpenRefine and not lose your working projects

ANNOUNCEMENT

The LSRD-SIS board approved that an AdHoc Committee for the merger with Law Repositories Caucus will be formed to discuss the possibility. The committee members are Karen Selden as an committee advisor and three to four representatives from LARD and Law Repositories.

The main purpose of this initiative is to make
