

Secondary Source Speed-Dating

Imagine for a moment that we have experienced a time-warp, and the infamous Honey Boo Boo is now 15 years old. Her home life has deteriorated considerably. Mama June and Sugar Bear no longer bother taking care of poor little Boo Boo. They completely ignore her and pretend she no longer exists, ever since the pageant and reality tv money stopped coming in. Honey Boo Boo has now moved into her own trailer and supports herself working the evening shift at Bojangles. She told the manager she was 18, and he decided not to ask questions.

Honey Boo Boo has now come to us for legal help. She hears that she can get legally “man-ner-pated” from her parents, so she can live her own life without needing their permission for anything. Your job is to visit with each of the secondary sources provided today and find the sections that define implied emancipation.

For each source, provide the proper Bluebook citation for the section you find.
