MOTIONS FOR AALL EXECUTIVE BOARD ACTION:

1. That the Executive Board establish an AALL Hall of Fame within AALLNET to recognize those members nearing the end of their careers whose contributions to the profession and service to the Association have been exemplary, but not rising to the level expected of a recipient of AALL’s Marian Gould Gallagher Distinguished Service Award.

2. That the Executive Board establish an “Emerging Leader Award” to recognize members at mid-career who have already made significant contributions to the Association and/or to the profession and have demonstrated the potential for leadership and continuing service.

3. That the Executive Board establish an “AALL Volunteer Service Award” to recognize the “unsung heroes” of the Association who have not served in an elected national leadership position.

4. That the Executive Board establish a program to recognize a member’s continuous membership in the Association for twenty years.

5. That the Executive Board establish an annual “Lectureship Award” to provide deserving members an opportunity to share their knowledge and expertise with other members in a prestigious setting.

6. That the Executive Board establish an “AALL Innovations in Technology Award” to recognize a member’s or member group’s innovative use of technology in the development and creation of an application or resource for law librarians or legal professionals.
I. Introduction
The Member Recognition Special Committee was created to explore additional ways for the AALL to recognize and acknowledge members who have provided excellent and sustained leadership to the Association and to the profession through significant and/or sustained service and contributions.

As highlighted in its Interim Report, the Committee recommends the creation of a “tiered” system of recognition, in terms of both the amount of time and expense necessary for the particular type of recognition, and the range of recipients (i.e., including both mid-career members and those who have provided prolonged distinguished service). None of the recommended awards are meant to replace existing awards presented by AALL or any of its sub-entities (e.g., SISs). The Committee also recognizes that there may be years where there are no candidates who meet the minimum criteria for a particular award, so none of these awards must be presented every year. Finally, in some cases, the Committee struggled to articulate criteria for an award or the appropriate method of implementation. In such cases, the committee recommends that the Executive Board charge the entity given responsibility for the award to finalize the criteria and/or implementation method.

II. Proposed New AALL Awards
The Committee recommends that the Executive Board approve the following six additional methods of recognizing AALL members for their service and contributions.

A. “AALL Hall of Fame”
Purpose: To recognize those members nearing the end of their careers whose contributions to the profession and service to the Association have been exemplary, but not rising to the level expected of a recipient of AALL’s Marian Gould Gallagher Distinguished Service Award.

Structure: A prominent section of AALLNET should be used to “house” the AALL Hall of Fame. This section should include, at a minimum, a photograph and brief biographical information about each Hall of Fame inductee. The Committee recommends that two groups of individuals be inducted in the first year of the award: all past recipients of the Gallagher Award (1984–2009), and other deserving deceased members or members who have been retired/removed from an active career for at least 10 to 15 years. This initial group of inductees would be designated “Pioneers” of the Association. After the initial year, the number of inductees added each year could range from zero to four. New recipients of the Gallagher Award would be automatically inducted into the Hall of Fame if they were not already a member.

Selection Process: The Member Recognition Special Committee recommends formation of a special committee to identify the initial inductees. Much like members of AALL’s Copyright Committee must have some expertise in copyright law, this committee must consist of AALL members who, because of their significant service to the Association and/or familiarity with the history of the Association and our Association’s “Pioneers”, have the expertise that will be required to make these important initial selections. To assist in that process, the Committee has compiled a list of Gallagher recipients and others whose contributions to the Association make them worthy of consideration as “Pioneers” for the initial induction. (See Appendix A.)

After the initial year, a subcommittee within the AALL Awards Committee could continue the special committee’s work. The members of this subcommittee would be selected with the same considerations as applied to the special committee – members should have made significant contributions to the Association and/or have significant knowledge of AALL’s history. (One way to ensure the requisite expertise might be to include one or more members of the Hall of Fame on the subcommittee.) While this committee would be expected to solicit nominations from AALL’s membership, it also should have the discretion to select individuals who are not nominated. As an aside, the criteria for serving on this subcommittee also makes this group of members an ideal entity to select the recipients of AALL’s Gallagher Award. If they are given these dual responsibilities (i.e., selecting the Hall of Fame inductees and Gallagher recipients), it might make sense to establish it as a separate committee rather than a subcommittee of the Awards Committee. Ironically, a group charged with these responsibilities would mirror the Joseph Andrews Bibliographic Award Committee (which existed from 1966 to 1982), the original forerunner of the current Awards Committee (1982–present).

The nomination deadline would be February 1, with a selection deadline of April 15. The award presentation would be conducted at the AALL Annual Meeting Awards Ceremony. Nominations should include a biographical sketch if at all possible. The Hall of Fame recipient should receive a certificate of membership in the AALL Hall of Fame and/or a physical memento of the award.

Selection Criteria:
- Nominee must be or have been a member in good standing of AALL
- Nominee must be at or near end of active career in law librarianship
- Nominee must have provided years of distinguished service to the Association
- Nominee must have made significant contributions to the profession

Following lengthy discussions about the various ways to define “distinguished service” and “significant contributions,” the Committee recommends leaving the specifics of these characteristics to the selection committee. The Committee does, however, offer such examples as serving in leadership positions within the Association (elected office, committee chairmanship, special interest section chair, etc.), authoring publications that benefit the profession, serving as a leader to the legal community at large, working with outside organizations on behalf of the profession, and serving as a superior role model for colleagues.

Funding: Ranges from minimal funding for the cost of certificates to nominal funding for the cost of a physical memento. The Member Recognition Special Committee does not anticipate that the cost of adding a “Hall of Fame” to AALLNET would be beyond the parameters of the Association’s current budget.

B. An “Emerging Leader” Award

Purpose: To recognize law librarians at a mid-career level who have already made a significant contribution to the Association and/or profession and who have demonstrated the potential for leadership and continuing service to the Association and the profession. At the present time, neither AALL nor any of its membership groups recognize the distinguished service of mid-career members.

Structure: Each year, one recipient from each of the three “type of library” special interest sections would be selected for the Emerging Leader Award, assuming qualified candidates are identified.

Selection Process: The respective special interest sections, ALL-SIS, PLL-SIS and SCCLL-SIS, would be charged with determining how they will implement this award within their organization. They also would be responsible for soliciting and selecting a recipient each year. The nomination deadline would be February 1, with a selection deadline of April 15. The award would be presented at the annual AALL Awards Presentation ceremony during the AALL Annual Meeting. The respective SISs may also recognize their recipient at an appropriate opportunity during the AALL Annual Meeting. Since this award parallels the Medical Library Association’s Estelle Brodman Award (“emerging leader”) and that award recipient receives $500 cash, the Member Recognition Special Committee also recommends that each recipient of our Emerging Leader Award receive $500, as well as a certificate.

Selection Criteria:

- Nominee must be a member in good standing of AALL
- Nominee must be in “mid-career” at the time of the award. The term “mid-career” is defined as not having more than 10 years of professional library experience.
- Nominee must not have previously received an Emerging Leader Award
- Nominee must have made a significant contribution to the Association and/or the profession.
- Nominee must have shown outstanding promise for continuing service and leadership. Specific examples of their continuing activities must be provided.

Funding: The cost of certificates would be nominal, however, the annual cost for the three cash awards would be $1,500.

C. An “AALL Volunteer Service” Award

Purpose: To recognize the contributions of our Association’s “unsung heroes” who have not served in an elected national leadership position prior to or at the time of nomination. Emulating the Medical Library Association’s Virginia L. and William K. Beatty Volunteer Service Award, this award would be a wonderful motivator for newer members of the Association.

Structure: Each year, the AALL Awards Committee would select one recipient to receive this award, assuming qualified candidates are identified.

Selection Process: AALL Awards Committee would solicit nominations with a February 1 nomination deadline and an April 15 selection deadline. The recipient would receive a calligraphied AALL plaque at the annual AALL Annual Meeting Awards Ceremony.

Selection Criteria:

- Nominee must be a member in good standing of AALL for last 10 years immediately preceding the nomination
- Nominee must be an “unsung hero,” defined as not having served in an elected national leadership position (i.e., AALL Executive Board)
- Nominee must not have previously received any of the following awards:
  - Marian Gould Gallagher Distinguished Service Award
  - AALL Hall of Fame
  - Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographical Award
  - ALL-SIS Frederick Charles Hicks Award for Outstanding Contributions to Academic Law Librarianship
  - CS-SIS Kenneth J. Hirsch Distinguished Service Award
  - SCCLL-SIS Bethany J. Ochal Award for Distinguished Service to the Profession
  - TS-SIS Renee D. Chapman Award for Outstanding Contributions in Technical Services Law Librarianship
- Nominee must be an active participant in the Association, as evidenced by one or more significant contributions to AALL, including but not limited to the following:
  - Volunteer service at annual meetings (of the myriad of volunteer activities such as Registration, Family Social Hour, Library Tours, etc.)
  - Volunteer service with special projects (i.e. annual meeting service projects)
  - Presenting educational programs at AALL Annual Meetings
  - Chairing an SIS or serving as chapter president
  - Chairing an AALL or SIS committee
  - Representing AALL in an official capacity to an outside entity
  - Active service as a member of an AALL or SIS committee

Funding: Expenses for this award would be limited to the cost of the calligraphied plaque.

D. “Membership” Pins

Purpose: To recognize a member’s continuous membership in the Association for twenty years.

Structure: Much like the SCCLL Special Interest Section awards membership pins to their members who have maintained 20 years of continuous membership in the AALL... and simultaneous membership in the SCCLL-SIS for 10 years, the number of recipients each year would vary.

Selection Process: The AALL Awards Committee would work closely with the AALL Membership Services Coordinator to confirm membership records and identify members who have met the 20-year membership criterion. A list of the 20-year Pin recipients for that year would be included in the annual awards brochure and in AALL Spectrum, and would be distributed electronically to all members of the Association. Recipients would also receive an appropriate certificate commemorating their status as a twenty-year member.

Selection Criteria:
- Recipient must be a member in good standing of AALL for 20 years immediately preceding the award
- Members are eligible for pins for every 20 years of continuous membership

Funding: The cost of pins and certificates of membership would be nominal, although the first year the award is implemented an initial investment for the design and purchase of membership pins would be required.

E. An Annual “Lectureship”
Purpose: To provide an opportunity for members with a unique perspective on the history, practice, or philosophy of law librarianship to share their knowledge and expertise with other members in a prestigious setting. The lecture, which can be on a topic of the individual’s own choosing, would be presented at the annual meeting, preferably in a plenary session, and be published in Law Library Journal.

Structure: We recommend that the AALL Research and Publications Committee, as augmented with appropriate individual members of the Association (i.e. the editors of Law Library Journal and AALL Spectrum), select the recipient, assuming qualified candidates are identified. Nominations should be solicited but the committee also would have the discretion to select as lecturer an individual who has not been nominated. At the discretion of the AALL Executive Board, this award could carry the name of a distinguished AALL scholar, such as Morris Cohen or Julius Marke.

Selection Process: The nomination deadline for this award would be June 1. The selection committee would meet at the AALL Annual Meeting in July to discuss those who have been nominated and other potential candidates. The committee would make its actual selection by November 1. The actual lecture would be presented at the AALL Annual Meeting in July of the following year, at which time the lecturer would receive the honorarium and appropriate memento. If the recipient does not complete the necessary work or is unable to attend the next year’s annual meeting, the award would not be presented.

Since the recipients of AALL’s “LLJ Article of the Year Award” and “Spectrum Article of the Year Award” receive $500 each, this award should include a $500 honorarium. The Committee also recommends that the AALL Executive Board consider providing reimbursement, if necessary, for the recipient’s travel expenses to the site of the annual meeting where the lecture will be presented. Lecturers would receive an appropriate memento (e.g., certificate, glass plaque) in recognition of their selection.
Selection Criteria:

- Nominee must be an active member of the profession for a sufficient number of years to have acquired a broad perspective on law librarianship and to possess the qualities required to articulate his or her experiences and ideas.
- The lecturer is selected for speaking style, preeminence in the subject area, and willingness to commit significant time and energy to prepare for the lecture.
- Nominee must be a member in good standing of the Association who has made a substantial contribution to its work through one or more of the following:
  - Leadership
  - Contribution to law librarianship as a profession
  - Development of or sustained work within a particular area within the Association
  - Dedicated service to law and the legal community
  - Contributions to research or scholarship
  - Effectiveness in administration/management
  - Contributions to technology application and library practice
  - Effectiveness in teaching and training

Funding: In addition to the $500 honorarium and the cost of a plaque, there may be the potential for travel expense reimbursement.

F. An “Innovations in Technology” Award

Purpose: To recognize an AALL member, SIS, chapter or library for their innovative use of technology in the development and creation of an application or resource for law librarians or legal professionals.

Structure: Interestingly, even though one of AALL’s Strategic Directions includes technology as one of the areas for which law librarians will be recognized, and even though the Association recognizes a “Best New Product” and one of the AALL Excellence in Marketing Awards recognizes the “Best Use of Technology,” there currently is no method to recognize an individual member for his/her innovative use and application of technology in a law library.

Selection Process: The Computing Services SIS would be responsible for selecting the recipient assuming qualified candidates are identified. The nomination deadline would be February 1 with a selection deadline of April 15. This award would be presented annually to a member, SIS chapter, or library during the AALL Awards Ceremony at the Annual Meeting. The Special Libraries Association gives the recipient of their “J.J. Keller Innovations in Technology Award” a $1,000 cash award. The Member Recognition Special Committee recommends that the recipient be given a plaque and that the Board explore the feasibility of also giving a cash award that could be sponsored by an outside entity.

Selection Criteria:

- Nominee must be a member in good standing of AALL.
- Nominee’s application of technology or resource must benefit library users and/or the legal information community
• Nominee’s innovative use of technology must be an example of how librarians/information professionals effectively and efficiently serve as the human connection between technology, the information, and the user experience.

Funding: The cost of a plaque.

III. Conclusion and Final Thoughts
The AALL Awards Program “was established as a way to publicly recognize the achievements of law librarians based on service to the profession and contributions to legal literature and materials.” (See “AALL Awards & Acknowledgments” section of About AALL on AALLNET at http://www.aallnet.org/about/awards.asp) The six new awards proposed by the Membership Recognition Special Committee expand the existing awards program to more fully recognize the contributions and achievements of a wider range of members. The Committee also realizes an awards program is a very effective means of encouraging members to set professional goals and actively participate in the Association. In order to more fully realize these purposes, the Committee encourages the AALL Executive Board to investigate ways the annual awards presentation could be scheduled to reach the largest possible audience of AALL members attending the Annual Meeting.

IV. Recommendations for Action
The Membership Recognition Special Committee recommends:

• That the Executive Board establish an AALL Hall of Fame within AALLNET;
• That the Executive Board establish an “Emerging Leader Award” to recognize members at mid-career who have already made significant contributions to the Association and/or the profession, and who have demonstrated the potential for leadership and continuing service;
• That the Executive Board establish an “AALL Volunteer Service Award” to recognize the “unsung heroes” of the Association who have not served in an elected national leadership position;
• That the Executive Board establish a program to recognize a member’s continuous membership in the Association for twenty years;
• That the Executive Board establish an annual “Lectureship Award” to provide deserving members an opportunity to share their knowledge and expertise with other members in a prestigious setting; and
• That the Executive Board establish an “AALL Innovations in Technology Award” to recognize a member’s or member group’s innovative use of technology in the development and creation of an application or resource for law librarians or legal professionals.

Respectfully submitted,

Member Recognition Special Committee
