The committee continued to advertise and promote to the membership the availability of the AALL/Bloomberg BNA Continuing Education Grant Program, reviewed the applications for the four rounds of the program, and awarded grants. In 2014-2015, the committee awarded grants for 4 professional development opportunities.

The programs sponsored by AALL/Bloomberg BNA Continuing Education Grants were:

- NOCALL (Northern California Association of Law Libraries): Spring Institute - Too Hot to Handle, Librarians on Fire
- LLOPS (Law Librarians of the Puget Sound): Search and Connect
- SEAALL (Southeastern Chapter of the American Association of Law Libraries): 2015 SEAALL Institute and Annual Meeting
- Law Repositories Conference 2015: Shaping the Future

The committee also hosted two professional development webinars for AALL2Go:

- Dec 9, 2014 – Courtroom Technology: Trends and Practical Insights by Thomas Bruton, Clerk of Court for the Northern District of Illinois
- Feb 26, 2015 – Surveys: When to Use Them and Why by Debbie Ginsberg, Educational Technology Librarian, Chicago-Kent College of Law Library

The committee revised the grant program FAQ to clarify grant proposal procedures and requirements.

The committee continued its outreach efforts by assigning member liaisons to reach out to AALL Committees, SISs, Caucuses, and Chapters in an effort to increase awareness of the grant program and to encourage applications. Each committee member liaison communicated with their assignments throughout the committee year to encourage those groups to submit grant applications and to answer any grant program-related questions.

Committee members helped promote the committee and its work by participating in the CONELL Marketplace and by having a table in the Activities Area at the AALL Annual Meeting. The committee also prepared a brochure as a way of advertising the committee’s activities and programs. The committee publicized the grant program and committee-hosted webinars through various electronic means, including AALL My Communities blog posts and posts in the AALL e-newsletters.

The committee also worked with AALL Staff Liaison Celeste Smith to promote professional development content available to AALL members through AALL2Go by writing short articles highlighting different programs each month for the AALL e-newsletter.

Respectfully submitted,
Erin Schlicht - Chair, 2014-2015 Continuing Professional Education Committee
