During the 2019-2020 year, the AALL/LexisNexis Call for Papers Committee followed the well-established timeline of posting the call for papers in fall and accepting submissions for the Open, New Member, and Short Form divisions by early March and the Student Division by mid-May.

The Committee revised the Call for Papers poster and used the following outlets to advertise the open call for papers: Law Library Directors’ Listserv, Law Librarian Blog, RIPS Law Librarian Blog, Council of Chapter Presidents, LawLib, Council of Newsletter Editors (CONE), Spectrum, AALLNET, Council of SIS Chairs, KnowItAALL, Social Media Platforms, and the various SISs. We also emailed various JD/MLIS programs to notify them of the Student Division Award.

As in previous years, the number of submissions remained consistent at 10 total submissions for the Open (5 submission), New Member (2 submission), and Short Form (3 submission) divisions. The Committee members reviewed, ranked, and met to discuss the submissions.

The various winners are listed below:

Open Division: Janet Sinder, “Correcting the Record: Law Journals and Scholarly Integrity in the Digital Age.”

New Member Division: Nicholas Mignanelli, "Legal Research and Its Discontents.”

Short Form Division: Danny Norris, “All Roads Lead to the Library: An Academic Law Library Departmental Outreach Program.”

There were 2 submissions for the Student Division. The Committee members reviewed, ranked, and met to discuss the submission.

Student Division: Rebecca Chapman, “Protecting Our Spaces of Memory: Rediscovering the Seneca Nation Settlement Act through Archives.”

All winning articles of the Open, New Member, and Student Divisions were forwarded to the editor of the Law Library Journal for publication consideration.

The winner of the Student Division was forwarded to the editor of Spectrum for publication consideration.

Because of COVID-19, and with the cancellation of the in-person AALL Annual Conference, the Committee work ended with reviewing and selecting winners. We did not hold the normal “Librarian as Author” panel.

Jamie Baker, Chair 2019-2020
Associate Dean & Library Director, Professor of Law, Texas Tech University School of Law