AALL UPDATESTHE 2023 AALL STATE OF THE PROFESSION REPORT IS NOW AVAILABLE

The third edition of the AALL State of the Profession report is now available to order on AALLNET. The report provides organizations and law librarians with the insights needed to understand the current legal information landscape, as well as prepare for the future. The report covers demographics, budgets, user services, collections, operations, technology, and more. This edition highlights how law libraries in various organizations have bounced back following the pandemic, especially with respect to budgets and remote/in-person work.

The release of the report has been covered by Bob Ambrogio's LawSites blog and was shared on InfoDocket. This report is available in digital, print, and a print + digital bundle.

ORDER*THE 2023 AALL SALARY SURVEY IS OPEN / RESPONSES DUE MAY 31

The 2023 AALL Salary Survey is open and invitations were sent out April 24 to those in director-level roles.

The Salary Survey report is a member benefit (no cost for electronic versions that provides detailed compensation data for roles in law librarianship. An update to this year's survey includes a more streamlined location list. We avoided carving out cities with less than five organizations to alleviate any anonymity concerns. Survey invitations were sent from survey@aall.org. Please be sure to add this email address to your Safe Senders List. If you are in a director-level role and do not receive an invitation, please check your spam folder. If you do not see the invitation in spam, please reach out to Heather Haemker, AALL director of marketing & communications. Completed surveys are due by 11:59 p.m. (Central on Friday, May 31, 2023. We appreciate and value your participation.

MEMORIAL

Stephen Wiles served as foreign and comparative law librarian and most recently as the collection development librarian for foreign and comparative law at Harvard Law School Library. During his 29 years of dedicated service at Harvard Law School (HSL), Wiles helped generations of faculty and students with their research and scholarship, including scores of students through one-on-one consultations and as part of the LLM writing groups. His understanding of international and foreign law spanned more than 200 jurisdictions, and he had working knowledge of almost every Western language, including all the Romance languages, as well as Russian, Arabic, and Farsi. Wiles became an AALL member in June 1995, and was a member of the Foreign, Comparative & International SIS. He passed away March 27, 2023.
